New State Tax Bill Widely Assailed

Protests flooded the State House today against the $196,000,000 tax headache devised by the dominantly Republican committee on taxation as the new program was received by the Legislature. From every corner of the State, Legislators received complaints against the proposed two-cent sales tax—a tax on nearly everything, with practically no exceptions. A proposed one-cent increase in the gasoline tax was also denounced, and a 10 per cent tax on individual incomes above $6000 and corporation incomes over $10,000 was another target.

The committee's proposals embodied almost every conceivable form of taxation, and the revenue therefrom would more than triple the amount Gov. Bradford asked, and failed to get, from the Legislature.

Mrs. Mary E. Higgins of Mattapan, president of the Consumers' Guild, warned housewives that public opinion alone could defeat the sales tax, and urged all housewives and mothers to bombard senators and representatives with postcards or letters of complaint.

"If this legislation is allowed to pass, it will do more harm than good to the family," she said.

She suggested writing to Chairman Roy C. Smith of the House Ways and Means Committee to which the program is to be referred.

James N. Keefe, chairman of the Massachusetts Highway Users Conference, said automobile owners already were paying a 27 per cent sales tax when they bought gasoline, and the one-cent increase would lift it to 33 per cent.

"The one-cent increase recommended by the committee on taxation of the General Court is as objectionable as the two-cent increase proposed by the Governor, because it is unnecessary," said Keefe.

"The Massachusetts Highway Fund does not need an additional two-cent tax, a one-cent tax, a one-half cent tax or any extra tax. No additional tax at all is required for highway purposes.

"I believe any fair-minded person will agree this would be exorbitant and unjust taxation on a commodity without which our economic life would be paralyzed. I urge a flow of vigorous protests against this new attempt to exploit the 900,000 motor vehicle owners of this Commonwealth."

The $196,000,000 which the committee expects to be raised by the new taxes is approximately half of the total amount now spent annually by the cities and towns of Massachusetts.

The proposed sales tax would exempt only gas, electricity and water; items already reached by excise, such as gasoline, cigarets, meals costing $1 or more, and newspapers and magazines.

As a sop the committee proposes throwing the taxpayer a $10 rebate for his wife and each dependent to apply against the sales tax.

The sales tax would raise $40,000,000.

The 10 per cent income tax on personal incomes above $6000 would raise $36,000,000.

"The 10 per cent tax on corporate income over $10,000 would raise $100,000,000.

An increase from $1 to $2 per barrel of beer and other malt beverages was also proposed. It would raise $3,00,000.

An increase from $1.45 to $1.50 per gallon of whisky and other distilled spirits, also provided for in the new program, would raise $140,000.

The one-cent additional gasoline tax would raise $7,500,000.

The proposed sales tax would not exclude food and medicnie, which Gov. Bradford had suggested excluding in his his progrom.

One-half of the sales tax revenue would go to the cities and towns for school purposes, and the balance to the general fund of the state.

Sen. Edward M. Rowe, Cambridge Republican, chairman of the committee on taxation, said the program was approved by his committee 10 to 5, all the Democrats being oposed. He said the aim was to balance the budget, make state requisitions on cities and towns unnecessary, aid education and help highway maintenance.

All the money raised by the added one-cent gasoline tax, amounting to some $7,500,000, would go to the municipalities for road construction.

Richard H. Long, president of the Massachusetts Social Security Ass'n, had proposed a 30 per cent tax on incomes in the higher brackets.

The income taxpayer would be given a rebate, under the committee's plan, of $10 for each dependent, including his wife, but the total rebate would be limited to 2 per cent of income. If he got less than $2000 a year he would also get $10 for himself.

The committee also proposed a flat 2 per cent tax on the gross premiums of domestic and foreign insurance companies except those writing life insurance. This would raise $1,000,000 a year.

In view of the opposition that developed even among Republicans in the Legislature to Gov. Bradford's tax plan, which asked for only $59,300,000, it was not believed the new program, calling for three to four times that amount, would be enacted.

FORMER SENATOR DAVID I. WALSH
Famed Massachusetts' Political Figure Is Dead

Ex-Sen. Walsh Lies in State At Family Home in Clinton

CLINTON, June 12—In this sorrowing community with its flags at half staff, the body of David I. Walsh was returned to his family home in Water st. today for two days of mourning to be followed by funeral services Saturday morning. Judge Thomas H. Connelly of Brighton court, a law partner of the late Senator, said no time limits have been established for visiting the Walsh home. The body will lie in state day and night.

A solemn high mass of requiem will be celebrated Saturday at 10 a. m. at St. John's Church. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery, close to the grave of his sister, Mrs. Nellie E. Dooley, 79, of Bagnal st., Allston, who was buried only yesterday.

Two other sisters survive, the Misses Mary and Julia Walsh. They were reported prostrate with grief over the loss of their sister and brother within four days. Funeral arrangements are being handled by Judge Connelly.

Meanwhile, tributes poured into the family home from high officials of federal, state and city governments, as well as leaders in other walks of life.

Statements were issued by Gov. Bradford, Sens. Saltonstall and Lodge, Congressmen McCormack and Philbin, Mayor Curley, and other notables.

Death came to the former Bay State governor and senator in his 75th year, following a third cerebral hemorrhage within three days. He was admitted to Cardinal O'Connell House of St. Elizabeth's hospital just one week previously.

He had been in ill health for a month following his return from a trip to Canada. He entered Fitchburg hospital and an examination disclosed high blood pressure.

Last Monday, soon after he learned of the death on Sunday of his sister, he suffered a setback. He had been devoted to his sisters, and during his quarter-century in Washington he journeyed the 900 miles regularly to spend the week-end with his family in Clinton.

He had been unconscious for 30 hours before death came. Present at the bedside when he was pronounced dead at 5:45 p. m. were Dr. Charles L. Sullivan, Jr., Dr. James P. O'Hare, Dr. Joseph Foley, Judge Connelly, a nephew, William Walsh of Boston; and three nieces, Marie, Catherine and Ann Dooley of Allston.

The Dooley sisters attended the funeral of their mother in Clinton during the morning, and five hours later were summoned to the hospital when it became clear their illustrious uncle was dying.

The Rev. John Cuff, hospital chaplain, administered the last rites Monday afternoon following the first shock. He led the bedside group in recitation of the prayers for the dying.

Ex-Sen. Walsh always will be remembered as one of the great independents of his generation. He was to the industrial East what Borah and Johnson, Norris and Robinson were to the agricultural West.

His career was in the best cherished American tradition — from a poor newsboy to a seat in the United States Senate and wartime chairmanship of the powerful Senate naval affairs committee.

During Franklin D. Roosevelt's administration, he was one of the first Democratic members to break away from the President's leadership, joining the group which opposed and defeated Mr. Roosevelt's plan to increase the size of the Supreme Court. Later he fought the President's proposal to reorganize the executive branch of the government.

In 1939, he made a floor speech warning that war threatened in Europe and urging the United States to build a powerful defense. Then, as war clouds increased, he aligned himself with those in favor of strict neutrality, opposing repeal of the arms embargo, fighting aid to Britain and casting his vote against peacetime conscription and the arming of American merchantmen. Such moves, he argued, were a prelude to war.

He fought for a stream-lined, compact, highly mechanized Army for home defense. As chairman of the naval affairs committee, he had charge in the Senate of all major legislation affecting the fleet, including several expansion programs.

Somerville Cop Shot In Battle With Thug

Ambushed in a narrow alley off Highland ave., Somerville, Patrolman Michael J. Dowd, 56, was shot and critically wounded today by a gunman he surprised breaking into a liquor store. A few hours later, Metropolitan District Police arrested a sullen, dark-haired Cambridge youth of 17, as a suspect. Dowd, a popular veteran officer, was shot through the stomach, but despite his wound the policeman belted his attacker a glancing blow over the head with his flashlight. Investigators said the suspect picked up at 5 a. m., while walking along Alewife Brook pkwy., has a wound over his right eye.

Metropolitan police notified Somerville authorities of the youth's capture and he was grilled for several hours by Somerville Capt. George J. Killourhy and detectives before he was arrested as a suspicious person and taken to Somerville headquarters for further questioning.

Insp. John H. O'Brien reported the youth told conflicting stories, but admitted he had been chased by Cambridge police at 1 a. m., when he was spotted trying to break into an auto in a lot near Harvard sq. Police said he was released from Shirley School May 3. They added he had $100 in his pockets when picked up.

At Somerville Hospital officials reported that the wounded policeman had a good chance of recovery, barring complications. Dr. John D. Bennett and three other surgeons, who probed almost four hours for the bullet, said they had located the slug in the victim's back.

Capt. Killourhy said that as soon as doctors permit the suspect would be taken to Dowd's bedside in an attempt to have the officer identify him.

Acting Mayor Raymond Reynolds announced that Mayor G. Edward Bradley, who is in Honolulu, had telegraphed orders to spare no expense in tracking down the assailant. The mayor ordered the municipal blood bank placed at Dowd's disposal for transfusions. Earlier, the entire police department and scores of Somerville firemen had volunteered blood for the victim.

Dowd reported that he had pulled in his box at Highland ave., and Willow st., at 2:32 a. m. Noticing a movement in a nearby alley, he went to investigate. At 2:34 a. m., police headquarters said Dowd reported over his call box, which he had left open, that he was shot.

The injured officer told Patrolmen John J. Bresnahan and James M. Kilmartin, first to reach the scene, that after he had been felled by the robber's shot, the gunman pointed the revolver at him again as he lay on the ground. Dowd said he shouted:

"Don't . . . don't do that!"

The bandit turned, jammed the gun in his pocket and fled. He escaped despite an intensive search

ACTRESS VIVIEN LEIGH

LAURENCE OLIVIER
Knighted Despite Divorce

Britain Knights Olivier in Spite Of His Divorce

LONDON, June. 12 AP)—The invisible door barring divorced persons from Britain's aristocracy was opened today with the award of a knighthood to actor Laurence Olivier in King George's birthday honors list.

Until now the title "sir" has been bestowed rarely on men who have been through the divorce courts. And almost never when a distinguished man and his wife both have been divorced, as is the case with Olivier and his present wife, actress Vivien Leigh.

There have been repeated protests from influential admirers of Olivier when the 40-year-old actor was passed over in favor of less well-known personages. Only last New Year's Olivier was missing from the King's honors list, which is prepared almost entirely by the government, while his second-in-command at the Old Vic Theater company, Ralph Richardson, was knighted.

Olivier was not the only divorced man knighted today.

Richard Gordon Munro, treasury representative in Washington, also got the accolade. He was divorced in 1934 by the daughter of Earl Baldwin, formerly Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, and has remarried.

Divorced persons still are barred from the royal enclosure at the Ascot race course, admission to which amounts to being in the social register.

Bribery Case Given to Jury, Kelly Collapses in Corridor

The bribery case of City Council President John B. Kelly went to the jury in Suffolk Superior Court today at 10:58 a .m. after a 48-minute charge by Judge John V. Sullivan in which he told the jurors "you have heard perjury in this courtroom."

At the outset of the charge, Judge Sullivan complimented the jury, which has been locked up since the outset of the trial and also the prosecution and defense for their able presentations.

But then he looked steadily at the jurors and said:

"I am going to make a remark that I seldom do in cases on which I sit.

"We who sit in court see the truth warped. Obviously it is because of self-interest.

"You have heard perjury in this courtroom, either on one side or the other. Perjury is a repulsive word. It is a detestable offense.

"A man who raises his right hand to God and swears to tell the truth is a terrible offender when he testifies falsely.

"You have been witnesses to perjury. This has developed a false premise and was done deliberately and cannot be compromised.

"You heard the defendant Donato describe the Kelly house, the location of furniture and the telephone. Was his statement deliberately falsified because he failed to get the permit?

"The defendant says he never saw Donato at his home.

"One of them is absolutely wrong.

"You must consider the interests of each witness and what motivated them in their statements."

Discussing the indictments, Judge Sullivan declared that one, charging requesting of a bribe, was a felony.

"The original history of the bribery statute shows that it applied only to judicial officers," he said. "In those days they were the ones who were susceptible to what is—to use a phrase which enjoys popularity today—'to take a buck.'

"Dit the defendant Kelly do the things which are alleged? That is the question of fact. That is your sole province.

"The second indictment comes from the common law, which in turn comes from English law. Many states have dropped it but it still prevails in Massachusetts.

"The defendant availed himself of the opportunity to testify.

"This is an important case. It is important to both the defendant and the government.

"It requires calm consideration of the evidence you have heard here.

"The case, of necessity, involves a public official so, of necessity, prominence has been given to it. As far as you and I are concerned, however, we are dealing with the case of the Commonwealth vs. John B. Kelly."

Judge Sullivan made his charge to the jury after already disposing of one of the three indictments against Kelly by directing a verdict of not guilty on a charge of attempted larceny.

The judge said he based his action on lack of evidence, but allowed the other two indictments, charging the Council or with solicitation and acceptance of a gratuity while he was a public official, to stand.

In the final stages of his argument, Asst. Dist. Atty. Doyle bitterly assailed the conduct of Kelly as "abhorrent to the decent citizens of Boston."

Referring to defense testimony concerning a discrepancy in the date when the alleged demand for money was made by Kelly at his home, originally given as June 10 but subsequently changed in government testimony to June 8, the recollection of a severe storm having fixed the latter date, Doyle declared:

"The phony alibi was prepared for the wrong date, June 10 . . . and it exploded.

"The defendant says Donato was never in his home," Doyle continued. "If you find Donato never was in his home, that is the end of this case . . . but how could Donato be able to tell where the telephone was unless he was there.

Doyle criticized methods used by the board of street commissioners in notifying petitioners, declaring: "The only notice Donato got was not from the street commissioners but from the defendant."

Waving a copy of a letter written by Kelly in which he informed Donato he had appeared to oppose his petition, Doyle charged: "That was a notice to Donato to come back and do business.

"The permit was marked granted and signed by the mayor," he asserted, "but it was held in abeyance subject to the demands of the man who was in command of the district.

"Isn't it reasonable to assume that the chairman of the street commission ran over to him and asked him: 'Is this permit all right?' And that the answer was 'No, it isn't.' Was this man's threat kept: no pay, no permit. That was the problem these two men were up against. It's an abhorrent condition of affairs."

Doyle also attacked the testimony of Patrick J. McCarthy of Quincy, a key defense witness whom he had recalled to the stand in a surprise move which revealed that McCarthy had paid a $50 fine after pleading guilty to a perjury charge in 1933.

Atty. Murphy centered his final argument mainly on the two key government witnesses, Donato and Comoletti.

"I think that you'll agree the frame was on for John B. Kelly," Murphy told the jury, "The frame was on and these fellows were the tools and the window dressing was dug up."

Several times during Murphy's final argument he was interupted by Judge Sullivan who chided him for digressing from evidence in the case.

Reds Tighten Grip in Balkans As Bulgar Parliament Acts

By Associated Press

A new Communist blow to non-Communists in Southeastern Europe—expulsion of the hard core of the opposition from Bulgaria's Parliament—was presented to the world today amid growing indications that a Balkan showdown was impending between Russia and the West.

An authoritative source in Washington said the United States was reviewing the whole American policy in southeastern Europe to determine what lines of future action might be more effective than the long series of futile protests sent to Moscow and other Communist capitals.

Diplomatic authorities in Washington predicted Russia would reject or try to hamstring American demands for a Big Three inquiry into the Communist seizure of power in Hungary, and that the United States probably would carry the case to the United Nations.

The Bulgarian Parliament voted last night that 23 members of Nikola Petkov's Agrarian party had resigned after a government prosecutor declared their written resignations had been found in Petkov's private papers, despite the deputies' denial that this was true.

Petkov, general secretary of the Agrarian party, is under arrest on charges of conspiring against the state.

The United States laid the foundation for an appeal to the UN in a vigorous protest to the Soviet commander in Hungary, charging "flagrant interference" in Hungarian affairs and demanding a joint inquiry by Britain, the United States and the Soviet Union.

Some State Department official saw the issue spreading to Greece, Italy, France, Germany and wherever else the western powers conflict with Communism.

The UN sub-commission, stopped at the border, was reported to have abandoned attempts to get into Bulgaria to investigate Greek charges that anti-government Greek guerrillas received help from that country.

An American representative of the UN educational, scientific and cultural organization (UNESCO) was also denied clearance by the Russians to enter Hungary.

Labor, Tax Acts Face Truman As Tour Ends

OTTAWA, June 12 (AP)—Pres. Truman wound up his trip to Canada with a holiday from official business today before starting back to Washington tonight for vital decisions on labor and tax cut legislation.

Turning tourist for a day, the United States Chief Executive took his official staff for an outing and a view of the Canadian countryside around Ottawa.

The whole party planned to attend a luncheon at the exclusive Seigniory Club, 45 miles away.

He went from this ovation to a luncheon at which he toasted Parliament and reminded its members he had "never in my life had a more cordial reception."

The state visit ends tonight when he boards his 11-car special train for the trip back to Washington via Toronto, Buffalo and Niagara Falls.

He will return to face a vital decision on whether to permit a $4,000,000,000 tax cut voted by a Republican-controlled Congress as well as action on legislation imposing new curbs on labor unions.

The deadline for vetoing the tax cut is Monday. Mr. Truman has said repeatedly that the time is not ripe for reducing taxes.

Chicago Beef Prices Exceed All Records

CHICAGO, June 12 (AP)—The steer and the hog jumped back again into the spotlight today and there were charges and counter charges over the sudden boost in meat prices.

Average price of steers and yearlings at Chicago yesterday rose to an all-time record high at approximately $26 a hundred pounds according to the Agriculture Dept. This topped the peak of $25.40 established last October immediately after OPA ceilings were removed.

Live hogs have not advanced as sharply as beef cattle, the top here yesterday being $24.75 a hundred pounds compared with $30 Feb. 25.

Cattle receipts at Kansas City yesterday, the largest for a June 11 in 25 years, advanced to the best price since January.

Meanwhile, retail meat prices also advanced during the past several weeks and representatives of butchers in the East blamed the meat packers. In Newark, N. J., butchers threatened to close shop unless prices come down.

Large packers in Chicago, discounting talk of heavy foreign exports, said advancing meat prices represented an amazing domestic consumer demand, particularly for beef. This, they said, also was reflected in the high price for beef cattle at livestock markets.

Suspect Admits Shooting at Cop

A 25-year-old South End man who said he was drunk at the time denied in the police lineup today he had attempted armed robbery of a cab driver living only a few doors away from his own home but admitted he fired four shots from a revolver at Patrolman Earl Howland.

Nicholas A. Domaney, Rutland sq., South End, the cabdriver, identified his neighbor as the man who allegedly held a gun to his head and ordered him to drive from the Back Bay to the South End.

Domaney told Police Lt. James V. Crowley he attracted the attention of Howland by zig-zagging his cab at Pelham st. and Shawmut ave. Then he sharply halted the cab, he said, and "hit the street."

The suspect leaped from the cab and fired four shots as he fled down Dedham st., according to Domaney.

The suspect was captured in a cellar in Worcester st., where police said they found the revolver.

Only Rent Curb Left As U.S. Frees Sugar

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The last war-imposed coupon control over the American public vanished today as sugar rationing for home, restaurant and hotel use ended.

Americans are free of coupon worries for the first time since April 28, 1942.

However, sugar price controls remain. So does rationing of industrial sugar. These two curbs are scheduled to end Oct. 31.

Congress probably will pass a bill this week continuing modified rent controls for at least another six months. However, the same measure is expected to erase all restrictions over construction and building materials.

Agriculture Sec. Anderson ordered the sugar ration end late yesterday, thus beating the Republican-controlled Congress to the draw. The House had set for a vote today a bill calling for an immediate end to household sugar rationing.

Sugar was the first food rationed and the last freed.

Anderson gave three specific reasons for his action:

1—The International Emergency Food Council allotted the U. S. an extra 350,000 tons from the world sugar pool.

2—Cuba has a sugar surplus which is expected to ease demands from other parts of the world.

3—Some 200,000 tons of Javanese sugar will be offered to world users immediately.

Overell Defense Doctor Assails Medical Ass'n

By VINCENT X. FLAHERTY
Special to Boston Evening American

SANTA ANA, Cal., June 12—Quietly in the background, as the Overell trial continues its snail pace, is a big, broad-shouldered medical man named Hugh Wilson O'Neill, who will be called upon to testify for the defense of Beulah Louise Overell and George (Bud) Gollum.

WEDDING NEARS—E. Bolling Byrd, post-debutante daughter of Adm. Richard E. Byrd, of Back Bay, will become the bride of William A. Clarke, Jr., of Wallingford, Pa., at Lindsay Memorial Chapel, Back, Bay, on June 25, according to advices from her family.

O'Neill promises to be a difficult obstacle for the prosecution to hurdle, for he is brutally outspoken, and becomes downright vehement in his denunciation of so-called medical experts.

In reply to the prosecution's statement regarding the possession of "expert medical evidence," O'Neill doesn't deal in ambiguities when he claims the whole medical aspects of the case are without basis.

"It is time the American Medical Ass'n stopped this nonsense," he said today in reference to medical men testifying.

"It is a disgrace to the medical profession."

He then voiced a personal conviction that American medicine is too losely supervised in such instances when physicians are called in for courtroom duty. He said England was ahead of America in this, because the British standards are much higher.

"In a case like this one," he explained, "the British Medical Ass'n would be quick to send a letter telling a doctor to desist."

O'Neill says there is no medical evidence in the Overell case worth serious consideration. As the medical representative for the defense, O'Neill attended the autopsy held six weeks after Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell, yacht blast victims, were exhumed and examined.

In his opinion, the examination should have been held immediately after the twin tragedy in Newport harbor March 25. He said the bodies were in no condition for an efficient medical examination six weeks later.

"If a doctor steps into a case, convinced two people have been murdered," said O'Neill, "he is prejudiced before he starts. I saw the bodies and I couldn't tell what inflicted the wounds—and no other medical man can tell."

Curley Plea Due Tomorrow In High Court

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 12—Faced with the necessity of having their appeal to the Supreme Court for a rehearing ready by nightfall tomorrow, as demanded by the government, Mayor Curley's attorneys prepared to make a special appeal to the nation's highes court — an appeal which would delay the sentence of the Boston mayor.

Nicholas J. Chase, Curley's counsel in Washington, was told in effect by the court of appeals that the petition for the rehearing would have to be filed tomorrow or sentence would issue forthwith.

Chase said it would be impossible to have his brief, the argument for granting the permission, ready by tomorrow since it must be printed before it can be presented.

The ultimatum was served by the court of appeals at the request of Special Asst. Atty. Gen. William A. Paisley who opposed any delay beyond tomorrow so that the case against the Boston mayor, already convicted for fraud in connection with the mails, would not go over until next fall.

Paisley contended that the Supreme Court was to go on vacation next Monday or on the following Monday, which would terminate the present session and leave the matter undecided during the summer.

Paisley hopes to have the issue decided before the high court adjourns for the summer.

VETS GET R. I. DEGREES

PROVIDENCE, R. I., June 12 (AP)—Providence College today awarded six honorary degrees and 110 in course at its 29th commencement. More than 80 of the graduates were World War II veterans.

RESCUED BROTHER FROM CISTERN—A hug is given to Daisy Sue Flynn, 11, of Festus, Mo., by her brother, Larry, 3, whom she rescued from a deep cistern in front of their home. The young heroine plunged into the water and held Larry's head up in nine feet of water until rescuers reached them. INP Soundphoto

Abp. Cushing Speaks To 400 B. C. Grads

Archbishop Cushing will address the 440 graduates of Boston College who will receive degrees in course at the 71st commencement at the Heights this afternoon.

Very Rev. William L. Keleher, S.J., president of B.C., will present degrees to the graduates from the six divisions of the college.

Degrees will be awarded to 216 seniors in the College of Arts and Sciences, 58 in the Business School, 70 in the Graduate School, 28 from the School of Social Work, a like number from the Intown School and 40 from the Law School.

The class includes more than 100 candidates who completed degree requirements last January under the college's accelerated program for war veterans.

Prof. Francis J. Campbell, college registrar, will act as chief marshal, assisted by Profs. John F. Norton and Augustine L. Keefe.

In accord with the academic custom, honoracy degree recipients will not be announced until Commencement.

The program will begin with the procession of faculties and graduates.

Candidates will be presented for their degrees by the various deans: Rev. Stephan J. Mulcahy, S.J., of the College of Arts and Sciences; Rev. James J. Kelley, S.J., College of Business Administration; Rev. James D. Sullivan, S.J., Regent, School of Social Work; Rev. Edward J. Keating, S.J., Arts and Sciences, Intown; Rev. William J. Kenealy, S.J., School of Law, and Rev. George A. O'Donnell, S.J., Graduate School.

Included among the graduating class will be priests and nuns of various religious orders who have completed requirements for Masters' degrees at the Graduate School.

Hotel Man Seeks Return of $19,000

MIAMI, June 12 (AP)—Nat Weiner, 45, manager of a Miami hotel said he would take a plane to Cincinnati today or tomorrow to ask the FBI to return $19,000 he left in the Cincinnati airport terminal.

Weiner said he did not trust banks and had carried his money with him for 10 or 15 years, but "I seldom had that much."

He said it represents the savings of 20 years and that he had taken it with him to Cincinnati for possible use in a business deal.

HONEYMOONERS BEGIN A NEW LIFE—William McDonald of Back Bay and his bride, the former Irene Manning of Dorchester, leave St. Peter's Church, Dorchester, following their colorful wedding. The couple are honeymooning in northern New England following their reception in the Hotel Somerset.

BIRD-GROUNDED

BRAINERD, Minn., June 12 (AP)—An Army surplus airplane is grounded indefinitely by a Mr. and Mrs. Bluebird.

The birds picked a corner of the plane's engine to build their nest.

John C. Riedl, manager of the Gull Lake-Heywood airport where the plane is berthed, said the propeller on the plane "won't be turned over until those two tiny eggs in their nest are hatched out."

Chandler Expected U. S. Arrest

Douglas Chandler was not surprised to learn he had been indicted for treason in absentia, according to testimony given in federal court today by a German prosecution witness who denied he was a member of the Nazi party but admitted working for the German foreign office from 1940 to the time of the Nazi collapse.

Dietrich Ahrens, Wiesbaden, Germany, who eventually became head of the radio political office dealing with the U. S., said Chandler considered the treason charge "a natural consequence of the ideological war he was fighting against the New Deal and hidden forces in the U. S. advancing the country to war."

Ahrens identified himself as an assistant to George von Lilienfeld, another prosecution witness and head of the radio political division at the time Chandler was introduced to Ahrens. Lilienfeld testified yesterday he had arranged for a passport for Chandler from Italy to Germany.

The witness stated he met Chandler in Berlin before Pearl Harbor and saw his about twice a week for a long period.

"Mr. Chandler was given all sources of information except high diplomatic matters," said Ahrens.

Under cross-examination Ahrens said:

"Mr. Chandler thought himself best fitted to give the U. S. a fair picture of conditions in the countries of Europe because of his experience as a journalist and magazine writer.

"He did not consider himself a betrayer of his country in respect to his broadcasts."

Ahrens also stated Chandler had volunteered his broadcasts, and spoke somewhat vaguely of having "no chance to continue his work because of some hidden Jewish influence."

Mother Leaves Estate To Son Missing in War

SALEM, June 12—A mother's undying faith that her Merchant Marine sailor son, reported missing in action four years ago, was still alive was revealed today in the will of Mrs. Minnie M. Stowe of Lynn.

In the will, filed for probate, Mrs. Stowe requested that her $2000 estate be kept intact for her son, Harold Betra Stowe, for at least three more years and, if no word is heard from him, be given to the Seamen's Institute, New York city, as a memorial to him.

ASSAULTED — Mrs. Madge Tucker Miller, radio actress, was brutally beaten early today in her New York apartment by an intruder. She was rushed to a Gotham hospital where her condition is regarded as "serious."

Film Notables Rush to Take Spots on Prayer Broadcast

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP)—Hollywood's biggest celebrities figuratively are standing in line these days to get on a new radio program called Family Theater.

Sixty-eight top stars, including Gary Cooper, Cary Grant, Olivia De Havilland, Judy Garland, Jimmy Stewart, Gregory Peck, Nelson Eddy and Fibber McGee and Molly have appeared or signed contracts to appear as guests.

It isn't the money. They are paid minimum radio union scale—less than $50 in any case—and many of them turn that pittance back to the theater.

The secret of Family Theater's attraction is twofold.

First, people in show business—and that includes the movies—are known to be easy touches where a good cause is concerned, and Family Theater has been taken up as a cause.

It is a weekly series of half-hour dramatic stories with a simple message: "When you're in trouble, pray." The program is non-denominational, and never suggests what method (or religion) one should follow in praying.

Second, the industry encourages its stars to be on this program for a good reason. In a measure, these appearances may help to offset some of the destructive notices Hollywood gets through the involvements of a few of its big names in divorces, cafe brawls, court suits and the like.

The man behind the idea for Family Theater is a little-known Catholic priest, Rev. Patrick Peyton, 38. He brought the idea to Hollywood three years ago and, on the basis of contracts several stars signed then, persuaded the Mutual Broadcasting System to give him free time.

Fr. Peyton says the inspiration for the program came to him in 1942, after his recovery from tuberculosis. "I was dying," he recalls, "and only the prayers of my family and my friends returned me to life. I promised then to devote the rest of my life to putting prayer in every American home."

2 Maine GAR Survivors Swap Posts—Both Ill

ROCKLAND, Me., June 12 (AP)—The State's two remaining veterans of the Civil War, Zachary McLaughlin, 99, of Turner, and Melvin Jellison, 100, of Clifton, exchanged offices today in the Department of Maine, G. A. R., at the final session of the annual encampment.

McLaughlin relinquished his post of commander to Jellison, who became vice-commander. Neither veteran was well enough to attend the convention.

French Rail Men Win Raise

PARIS, June 12 (AP)—The French government granted French railroad workers salary boosts today, thus ending a six-day national rail strike, the worst transportation tieup in the country's history.

The railroad workers union ordered its members back to work after an all-night series of conferences at which agreement was reached for settling the work stoppage, and five minutes later Premier Paul Ramadier and transport minister Jules Mooch signed the accord, making its terms official.

Under the agreement, the government promised to increase rail workers' salaries for the last half of 1947 by a total of 9,900,000,000 francs (about $83,000,000). The figure represented a compromise between union demands for 12,000,000,000 francs and a government offer of 8,000,000,000.

Hopes Chair Death Is Kept From Boy

PHILADELPHIA, June 12 (AP)—"I'm not afraid to die but I don't want my two-year-old boy to grow up knowing his old man died in the electric chair."

Those were the words with which 32-year-old Richard Hough accepted the death penalty imposed for his part in the slaying of Philadelphia Patrolman Cecil Ingling last Jan. 30.

"I just hope," Hough added, "I live until they get those two guys and I can testify against them."

The "two guys" are ex-convicts James Smith and David Almeida, fugitives since they and Hough fled from a market holdup. Ingling was slain attempting to halt their flight.

Hough pleaded guilty to a charge of first degree murder although he stated "I didn't kill Ingling and I am not vicious."

2 Detroit Strikes Idle 18,000

DETROIT, June 12 (AP)—Labor disputes idled about 18,000 Detroit workers today, keeping closed the Hudson Motor Car Co. and cutting down production of Ford clutch assemblies and aircraft engines at Continental Motors Corp.

A sitdown strike at Continental's Detroit plant, the first such dispute in 10 years, began yesterday but apparently affected only 1200 day workers, since the company reported operations normal after the change of shifts last night.

A walkout of 600 Hudson salaried workers, members of the CIO United Auto Workers, brought about the shutdown there. Office workers set up picket lines which kept 15,000 UAW-CIO production employes out of the plant.

Mme. Peron Not Invited To Buckingham Palace

LONDON, June 12 (AP) — The London Daily Express said in a Page One news story today that Eva Peron, wife of the Argentine president, "has not been asked to stay" at Buckingham palace during her forthcoming visit here.

..."That the First Lady of Latin-America is not to be house in Buckingham palace is a break with precedent," the Express said, noting that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt occupied a suite in the royal family's London home in 1942, and Mme. Albert Lebrun, as First Lady of France, also stayed there.

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Princess Elizabeth, riding side saddle, stole the show at the King's official birthday celebration today.

Festive crowds broke into cheers as the Princess, garbed in keeping with her coloneicy in the Grenadier Guards, rode behind her father, King George VI, at the traditional trooping of the colors.

More Spent for Liquor In U. S. Than for Doctors

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12 (AP)—Americans spend more for alcohol and for recreation than they do for medical care, in statistics compiled by Frank C. Dickinson of the Bureau of Medical and Economic Research of the American Medical Ass'n.

The alcohol bill is $7,900,000,000 annually; recreation, $5,800,000,000; medical care $4,600,000,000. Of the medical care total the doctors' bills are $1,30,000,00. Tobacco is $3,000,000,000.

Soldier Burned To Death in Crash

MATTAPOISETT, June 12—John Amadore, 24, Camp Edwards soldier, was burned to death today when the car in which he was riding with three Army camrades left Rouse 6 on a reverse curve, turned over, struck a tree and burst into flames.

His companions, thrown clear, were taken to St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford.

Report Wallace Hat in Ring Soon

LOS ANGELES, June 12 (AP)—The Los Angeles Times asserted today that Henry Wallace will toss his hat in the ring for President within the next two months by entering Democratic preferential primaries in California and a dozen other states.

The paper said Robert W. Kenny, former California Attorney-General and former Democratic candidate for Governor, and others not yet willing to identify themselves with the Wallace revolt were supporting the movement.

Wallace supporters figure he would have a better-than-even chance to win delegates of California, Oregon, Washington, Colorado and Idaho and be strong in other western and Midwest states.

CHINESE ATTACK U.S. GROUP

Laurence Olivier Knight of England

LONDON, June 12 (AP)—Stage and screen star Laurence Olivier, passed over in King George's honors list the last few years, was knighted in the king's birthday honors list.

Sir Laurence, as he now will be known, was widely reported to have been omitted from the previous honors because he has been divorced. His less well-known associate in the old Vic Theater Co., Ralph Richardson, was knighted in the New Year's list.

Olivier, now 40, married actress Vivien Leigh in 1940 after he was divorced by Jill Esmond, also an actress. Miss Leigh now will be officially known as Lady Olivier.

King George awarded the Imperial Order of the Crown of India to his two daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret.

ANGLER BAGS EAGLE

MANILA, June 12 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Albert M. Jones, chief of the American advisory military mission to the Philippines, caught an eagle with an eight-foot wingspread while fishing off Bataan, and he credited Brig. Gen. Frank D. Merrill with an assist.

The eagle grabbed a morsel of live bait cast by Jones, and flew off with the hook in its talons. The bird tore 500 feet of line off the reel and was going strong when Merrill picked up a carbine and dropped the eagle. Jones reeled it in.

TELESCOPIC PEEKS

Police decided today a man has the right to stand on his own roof and gaze at the heavenly bodies with a telescope.

Neighbors of a West End man had complained he scrambled along other roofs beside his own and, furthermore, they weren't so sure what bodies he was gazing at.

But the stargazer insisted on his rights on his own roof and convinced police he wasn't a long-distance peeper.

Vitamin D Peril Told by Doctors

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 12 (AP)—Too much Vitamin D, the American Medical Ass'n was told today, may be fatal, already has caused seven known deaths, and hardens numerous body tissues until they are much like stone. The report was made by doctors C. H. Slocumb of the Mayo Clinic and Smith Freeman of Northwestern University.

"No popularly used preparation of Vitamin D," they stated, "is safe from producing kidney damage, calcium deposits and other toxic symptoms, even in doses of 50,000 to 100,000 units daily, unless carefully given."

Places where the calcium deposits are thighs, wrists, elbows, and the muscles a person sits upon, the great artery, the aorta, in ligaments and in various soft tissues including the heart, stomach and lungs. In arteries the stony coating forms on the inner linings. The hardening process causes headaches, loss of appetite, loss of weight, nausea, nervousness, itching, insomnia, irritability or loss of memory.

WCTU Head Predicts Return of Prohibition

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 12 (AP)—Mrs. D. Leigh Colvin of Evanston, Ill., president of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union, says the United States is headed back to national prohibition.

Addressing the opening session of a two-day meeting of the national WCTU, Mrs. Colvin said: "One-quarter of the area of the United States is now dry or bans hard liquor. Eventually entire states will go dry and ultimately the nation."

REDS TO AID SISTER KENNY

MOSCOW, June 12 (AP)—Sister Elizabeth Kenny left Moscow today by plane to continue her European tour, after receiving assurances from the Russians that they would co-operate with the Elizabeth Kenny Institute at Minneapolis in combating infantile paralysis.

FAT?
Lose Up To 5 lbs. 1st Week
Safely or No Pay

If you are overweight and flabby, you can lose weight amazingly effortlessly. There is no need to punish yourself with backbreaking exercises—no need to use dangerous reducing drugs. You can eat regularly and adequately because with the CARLTON PROGRAM you don't cut out any meals, potatoes, meats or butter—you just cut down on them.

REDUCE by this DRUGLESS method

Overweight men and women who have nothing organically wrong with them can get back to normal weight simply and quickly by following the CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM of restricted low-calorie eating and taking CARLTON CAPSULES to assure intake of essential factors (no salts, no thyroid, no harmful drugs, no laxatives). The instructions say: Take CARLTON CAPSULES with meals, then eat a delicious CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM low-calorie meal. Results may amaze you, because following the CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM will cause unsightly pounds to melt away like magic—leaving no saggy, flabby or broken-down tissue.

Excess fat is unsightly and unhealthful—so don't put off getting the CARLTON REDUCING PROGRAM and two weeks' supply of CARLTON CAPSULES for only $1.98 with the understanding that if you are not satisfied with the results, you have the privilege of returning the empty carton and we will return your money. # Recess Group Plans Study Of Split Taxes

The Massachusetts Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs today will announce plans to form a commission to study the proposed community property law for Massachusetts and make a report of their findings on Dec. 1.

At a meeting of the committee they voted to refer the matter to a recess commission which will study the operation of the community property laws in the 10 states where it is now in effect and consider the possibility of the federal government enacting legislation to place all states on an equal basis in the matter of federal taxation

The measure was designed to save taxpayers an estimated $32,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year in federal income tax payments.

Proponents of the bill, led by former Superior Court Judge John J. Burns, had urged quick and favorable action, and all the benefits of the measure were explained in detail to the committee by a host of qualified speakers.

First object of the law is to make the wife an equal sharer in income received after marriage so that husband and wife can file separate federal income tax returns.

This separate filing would keep both husband and wife either entirely out of the surtax bracket, or put them both in lower surtax brackets at a substantial savings.

If the law were passed at once, Judge Burns pointed out, the people of the state would save half the amount in federal taxes which they now pay in excess of residents of present community property states. These sums run from 23 to 42 per cent a year.

Such a savings, Judge Burns said, would automatically mean that huge sums would stay in Massachusetts.

A-Rocket Needed For Trip to Moon

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., June 12 (INS)—The General Electric science forum was told that, since a speed of about 25,000 miles an hour is necessary to travel to the moon, only rockets powered by atomic fuel could make the trip with men aboard.

Martin Mann, associate editor of Popular Science monthly magazine, declared: "The moon is about 226,000 miles away, and to get there, a rocket would have to reach a velocity between 22,000 and 25,000 miles an hour. Those tremendous speeds are needed to escape from the attraction of the earth's gravity.

"About five pounds of uranium are enough for a round trip to the moon with a one-ton payload. This is quite a contrast to the tons of fuel necessary to lift a V-2 rocket a mere hundred miles." He said the trip would be a one-way proposition.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Cardinal Spellman Hits Parochial Bus Foes

NEW YORK, June 12 (INS)—Cardinal Spellman accused the Protestant Christian Century magazine of an "un-Christian, un-American" attitude in criticizing free bus transportation for children who attend parochial as well as public schools.

The cardinal, in a commencement address at Fordham University, also cited Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian opposition to what he called an action for "civic equality."

Medical Data Seen Key for Bertha Cote

Whether Mrs. Bertha Surprise Cote gains her freedom on a charge of slaying her husband may depend largely upon intricate testimony of medical experts concerning internal injuries suffered by the victim, it was indicated today.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John R. Wheatley voluntarily turned over to Eben Townes, chief defense counsel, the medical examiner's report on internal hurts suffered by Rene Cote, 35, in his home in Harvard st., Brockton, last Dec. 28.

Earlier, Townes had sought this information in a petition filed in Superior Court, but he was given rights only to the report on the victim's external injuries.

Townes, upon receipt of the report, emphasized that he would withhold its contents from the public until they are revealed in testimony after the trial begins in Plymouth Superior Court Monday.

Townes' interest in this report indicated he would turn it over to defense pathologists for careful scrutiny, and that it would be discussed in detail from the witness stand by doctors for both sides.

The medical examiner reported that from external injuries death was due to strangulation and blows on the head with a weapon still unknown to the state.

Rain Forecast as Water Recedes in Flood Areas

ST. LOUIS, June 12 (AP)—Forecasts of new rains today over the flood-ravaged areas of Missouri, Illinois and Iowa came as record crests of the Missouri and Mississippi rivers moved toward the St. Louis vicinity. The Mississippi fell a foot at Canton, Mo., and Quincy, Ill., and was reported receding slightly as far south as Louisiana, Mo., about 100 miles north of here.

In central Missouri, where more than a half million acres of rich farm land was under water, the Missouri began to drop slowly at Boonville after cresting at 29.4 feet, only 1.4 feet below the 1944 peak.

SNOW IN JUNE

DENVER, June 12 (AP)—Little more than a week before the official arrival of summer, residents of some parts of eastern Wyoming and Colorado awoke today to find the ground covered with snow.

The weather bureau reported that snow fell at scattered localities from Lander, Wyo., southward to Colorado Springs. Temperatures dropped below freezing at Cheyenne and Laramie, Wyo.

For Denver it was the latest snow in the 75 years the weather bureau has kept records, and a thermometer reading of 34 made it the coldest June night

UN Strategic Waters, Polar Control Urged

NEW YORK, June 12 (INS)—United Nations control of Antarctica, a specific guarantee of freedom for the Dardanelles, and international supervision of all strategic waterways was urged today by a research commission of the American Associations of the United Nations.

The group also proposed arming the United Nations with effective military land and air forces to back up decisions of the Security Council and the General Assembly.

Girl Slain, Friend Sentenced for Life

HAGERSTOWN, Md., June 12 (AP)—Bruce Davis, 32, aircraft mechanic, was convicted of first degree murder—without capital punishment—in the hammer slaying of his sweetheart.

The verdict, returned after 50 minutes of deliberation, calls for life imprisonment of the tall, quiet Tennessean tried in the death of Mrs. Florence McAllister, 29.

Davis, who emphatically denied on the witness stand that he killed Mrs. McAllister, accepted the decision calmly.

The battered body of the woman was found half nude Dec 10 by relatives in a second-floor bedroom of a little used farmhouse owned by her family.

Mongolians' War on China Laid to Soviet

By RAY RICHARDS
Boston American Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, June 12—Mongolian puppet invasion of China's Sinkiang province was viewed here as evidence that Russia backs her political aggression with military force.

Members of Congress said Soviet aircraft participation in the Sinkiang incident is proof that Russians are arming Asiatic Communist armies and taking part in their offensives.

The concern here has been heightened by another incident, the appearance of Korean Communist units with the Chinese Red forces in Manchuria.

Weapons necessary to the present aggression of the Communists in China could come only from American lend-lease shipments to Siberia for Russian use against the Japanese in the late war, it was claimed.

Said Sen. Revercomb (R.) of West Virginia:

"Can anyone doubt now that Russia has undertaken on the vastest scale in history what so many past conquerors have failed at—rulership of the whole world?

"As in Russia's political moves in Hungary and Bulgaria last week, this gesture in Sinkiang is a jolting reply to United States aid to Greece and Turkey.

"Whereas we are furnishing relief in mere defense of European majorities who do not want to go Communist, Russia has taken the military offensive in China."

Sen. Revercomb voiced a general Congressional demand that the Administration solidify its foreign policy, not keep it split to oppose Russia in Europe while encouraging the Communists of China and Korea.

Mine Explosion Perils Seven on Trawler

Explosion of a 200-pound mine picked up in a fishing net off Provincetown shook the 87-foot trawler Nancy B. of Boston and imperilled her crew of seven. The mine was cut loose when discovered in the nets, but detonated after sinking a few fathoms.

The crew included Capt. Guy Passanisi, 44, Hale st., West End; Leo Moca, 62, Falcon st., East Boston; Angelo Trangali, 51; Joseph Spinale, 34, and Frank Spinale, 62, all of Hale st., John F. Ciulla, 25, of Cottage st., East Boston, and Dominic Pedogana, 57, South st., Somerville.

Brazil May Admit 700,000 European Emigrants

RIO DE JANEIRO, June 12 (AP)—The newspaper O Globo said the Brazilian government was considering admitting 700,000 displaced persons from Europe.

The newspaper quoted Finance Minister Pedro Luiz Correia Castro as saying U. S. Ambassador William D. Pawley suggested such an immigration program at a meeting with Pres. Eurico Gaspar Dutra.

1500 JVA Chiefs To See Byrd Film

Fifteen hundred officers of the Junior Victory Army of Greater Boston and their adult sponsors are keyed to high anticipation as they look forward to Saturday morning when they will be guests at the new Center Theater for the showing of "Discovery."

This epic film, a record of Adm. Byrd's expedition to the South Pole, is replete with the terrors of Antarctica where Mother Nature is at her worst.

The world premiere of the picture at the Center tonight will be a performance for the benefit of the Nurses Sick Relief Ass'n of Mass. General Hospital.

"Discovery" tells in stark drama and thrills the tremendous courage demanded of Byrd and his band of hardy adventurers.

The young JVA chieftains will be guests of the management in recognition of the important work they are carrying on in the post-war program. The main feature will be augmented by cartoons and a newsreel.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and address to the Junior Victory Army, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment, you want the JVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10-cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD

THE SUSPENSION of American credits to Hungary in consequence of the recent Communist coup in that country, the latter event having the effect of making Hungary a virtual satellite of Soviet Russia, was wholly warranted but somewhat ineffectual.

Hungary has already used half of the thirty-million-dollar Surplus Property credit granted her by the United States.

The Export-Import Bank credit now held up amounts to only seven million dollars.

In view of the fact that American credits already utilized by Hungary total $25,265,000, obviously the Communists have timed their forcible and treacherous seizure of the country well.

However, there is no sense in sending good money after bad. In withholding further credits the American government has therefore acted both promptly and wisely.

THE HARD TRUTH OF THIS MATTER OF FOREIGN CREDITS IS THAT IN TOO MANY CASES WHERE SOVIET RUSSIA HAS FORCIBLY CONVERTED HER NEIGHBORS INTO SATELLITES LARGE AMOUNTS OF AMERICAN MONEY AND GOODS HAVE BEEN INCLUDED IN THE SPOILS.

To be charged up against our former policy of appeasement of Soviet Russia, in fact, is a total of more than ONE AND ONE-HALF BILLION DOLLARS. Which has had only one actual purpose—the enrichment of the RED FASCIST empire.

The Russian-dominated state of Yugoslavia, for instance, got nearly ONE-THIRD OF A BILLION—of Poland approximately HALF A BILLION—of Czechoslovakia $262,134,000, and of Albania $40,450,000.

The Soviet Union itself has received post-war American credits of $421,000,000. This includes $250,000,000 in so-called "Lend-Lease" materials for which not even the most naive appeasers expect repayment.

These figures do not include the SIX-BILLION dollars contributed by the United States to the World Bank and Monetary Fund, of which Russia and her satellites stand to be the principal beneficiaries.

Nor do they include the recent $350,000,000 appropriation by Congress for foreign relief which has been made necessary by Russian despoilation of occupied countries.

During the recent Pacific War, when American fighting men were under Japanese fire, they remarked bitterly that the enemy was "throwing the Sixth avenue elevated railroad at us," referring to our pre-war sales of scrap iron to Japan.

Are we not doing substantially the SAME THING in our post-war building up of Russia and her satellites, since our only potential ENEMY in the world is thus being strengthened and enriched by our largess, and particularly since the intention to make ultimate war upon us is frankly avowed by all RED FASCISTS in the world, including our own?

DAVID I. WALSH

THE PEOPLE of America, and especially those of Massachusetts, mourn the passing of former Senator David I. Walsh, but there is consolation and much satisfaction in the knowledge that he lived a full life and a useful one.

Born in Leominster seventy-four years ago, the second youngest of ten children, he rose by a combination of natural brilliancy and extraordinary effort from newsboy to the highest office in the Commonwealth and a uniquely important place in the nation's greatest law-making body.

During his lifetime he built many monuments that will long endure, notably the University Extension system of education, laws designed to improve working conditions in factories, and the creation of a "two ocean" Navy.

Always a Democrat, but never a New Dealer, David I. loved his work and valued his independence. When he said, as he often did, "I doubt if I would choose any other career than that of government if I had my life to live over again," everyone was very sure that he meant it.

On the Side

By E. V. Durling

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

SOME CAPTIOUS critics, mostly residents of the Bronx and California, charge that I devote 90 per cent of this space to discussing my dog, my breakfast and Brooklyn. I believe that is a slight exaggeration. Anyway, in this particular column I will not discuss my dog or my breakfast, only Brooklyn. If Brooklyn, in a moment of weakness, had not agreed to become part of New York city it would now be an independent municipality as large as Chicago. The city of New York began in 1883 to try to get Brooklyn to merge with it. At that time that distinguished Brooklynite, Gen. Jeremiah Johnson, said in opposing the suggestion: "There is nothing in common between Brooklyn and New York city in either object, interest or feeling." In so saying he echoed the views of the great majority of Brooklynites of that era. It was not until 1898 that the grand old city of Brooklyn, in the moment of weakness aforementioned, agreed to merge with New York city.

POETRY: IT HAD been my intention to head this column with Nathalia Crane's beautiful and touching poem, "Moon Over Brooklyn." But some careless fellow borrowed my book of Miss Crane's poems and failed to return it. As you no doubt are aware, Nathalia is that brilliant Brooklyn girl who at the age of 9 or thereabouts wrote the celebrated poem, "The Janitor's Boy," in which is included the immortal passage:

My heart is all a-flutter,
Like the washing on the line.

GET IT RIGHT: Brooklyn is believed to be largely made up of places where people go only to sleep. More Bronx propaganda! As a manufacturing center Brooklyn ranks fifth in the country. Thousands of Brooklynites work, sleep, eat and play in Brooklyn and only go to Manhattan to see the Dodgers trim the Giants again. As for trees in Brooklyn, why, my good fellow, there are as many trees on Ocean Parkway and Shore Road as on any other street or boulevard in the nation.

CITY OF CHURCHES: Brooklyn, referred to for years as the City of Churches, has had as many great religious leaders as any other city in the U. S. A. Just to mention a few: Henry Ward Becher, De Witt Talmage, Dr. Samuel Parks Cadman and Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis. Brooklyn has twenty-four high schools and nearly as many colleges. Among the latter are Brooklyn College, Pratt Institute, Long Island University, Brooklyn Polytechnic, St. Johns, and Packer Collegiate Institute.

GREENPOINT: Williamsburg and Greenpoint are in the part of Brooklyn where the trees don't grow. I have only been to Greenpoint once. That was when our neighborhood football team from Bay Ridge ventured into Greenpoint, then as now pronounced "Greenpernt" by the natives. We won the game but when we went back to the dressing room we found somebody had stolen our clothes. This prejudiced me against Greenpoint and therefore I do not feel qualified to discuss the section fairly. Mae West was born in Greenpoint and I will ask her to say a few kind words about it which will appear in a later issue.

Mae West

BAY RIDGE: My claim that I lived in Bay Ridge is often disputed by snooty residents of that section. We lived on Forty-Eighth st. The Bay Ridge socialites say their section begins at Sixty-Seventh st., and therefore I lived in South Brooklyn. Well, the house we lived in was on a ridge and overlooked the Bay and that's good enough for me. My claim that I am a Bay Ridge boy is continued.

CONEY ISLAND: Recently I lost a stogie by stating Far Rockaway is in Brooklyn. But it was strictly on a technicality. However, when I say Coney Island is in Brooklyn I am on safe ground. Nobody knows for certain how Coney Island got its name, but it has been a very gay resort for over a hundred years. My father and I used to ride out to Coney Island on our bicycles. We took that ride on the "bicycle path," which was then the most beautiful roadway of its kind in the world. Another place I used to ride to on my bicycle was the Sheepshead Bay racetrack. But not with my father. What a beating I used to give those tenCent bookies outside the track!

OLD SCHOOL: Erasmus Hall High School, Barbara Stanwyck's alma mater, was established in 1787. My sister went to Erasmus. I went to Commercial High. Not because I wanted to be a businessman but because I had a good chance to make the baseball team. That's all about Brooklyn for today. Tomorrow I will resume discussing my dog and my breakfast.

"Good morning, madam. I would like to demonstrate this vacuum cleaner with some dust I borrowed from next door . . ."

ENOUGH FAIR

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate

NEW YORK, June 12—The nuisance of the Roosevelts continues undiminished more than two years after the passing of a man who gave us a new article in the moral code, superseding the austere and painful standard observed by Andrew Jackson and U. S. Grant.

Westbrook Pegler

The professional Democrats still plod a weary way to Hyde Park on florid occasions, such as Memorial Day, to punch the clock and commit carnival politics for the sake of the record and to confirm their own status in the organization.

Attendance is not officially compulsory but is strongly advised.

THE WIDOW'S constant presence has become an interesting role in these pageants of formalized mopery in view of the fact that she was so easily called away from her afflicted husband's side throughout his 12 years and somewhat in the White House.

A canvass of the date lines of Mrs. Roosevelt's newspaper column from its beginning in 1933 to the date of his death in April, 1945, which found her in New York and him in Warm Springs, a thousand miles apart, would indicate that she spent no more than one night in four under the same roof.

Other wives and husbands have given contrasting examples of unremitting attendance in similar circumstances, but here again we may owe a degree of emancipation from old ways to the pattern of conduct established for us by this happy and unconventional family.

ROBERT PATTERSON, the Secretary of War, was detailed to the duty of making the big harangue on Memorial Day when the poor fellow might have slept late and shot a mess of golf.

Quoting Patterson, the widow wrote: "If we stand as the bulwark of freedom, if we prosper as a people and out of our prosperity extend assistance generously to the less fortunate—" and so forth.

We retained some fragments of our own freedom only by rejecting her proposal a few years ago that "the government" order us all, men and women, to assigned tasks under compulsion wherever any Ickes, Morgenthau or Leon Henderson might assign us.

About the same time Harry Hopkins was proposing that not just troops but civilians be indiscriminately quartered in our homes by order of local or neighborhood quartermasters, and chuckling at the prospect of "society leaders" become rooming house keepers.

The lady's quotation of Patterson's awkward reference to generosity in discussing a Roosevelt also recalls a paradox.

Patterson said this at the grave of a man whose son, Jimmy, the eaglet, actually asked for a ruling that the old man was a soldier on active service because he was titular commander-in-chief and that the estate therefore deserved a tax rebate of a few dollars.

JACKSON DAY ORGIES around the country have become a hilarious mockery now that the New Deal has taken over Old Hickory's character and personality as their own private mooseheads for the clubhouse wall.

To be sure, the little old gamecock introduced some realistic thoughts on spoilsmanship, but he remained, unto the very death, a gentleman of the most primitive and exacting honor in all matters of personal debt.

They flew the widow to Hollywood for a Jackson Day event and some of the high Democrats of the reformed version had to leave town.

Nevertheless, the receipts seem to have been highly satisfactory.

All this pomp was ironic under the gaunt and scowling visage of the dying consumptive who busted himself to pay off the debts of an adopted son, Andy, Jr., who was just a spendthrift and a fool in business.

MARQUIS JAMES, in the best of the Jackson biographies, estimates at $40,000 the amount that the Old Warrior scraped together at various times to bail the young scamp out of debt, and he tells us that some of these owings were debts only in the most technical sense at that.

The same subject naturally recalls that U. S. Grant, for all his stupidity and other faults, was also honest to a degree that some new dealers might consider not just stupid but imbecilic.

He, too, paid off when he needn't have and gave up his home in the process and both he and Jackson hurried to save their honor by cruel exertions while they were suffering the tortures of dissolution toward death.

Hollywood

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 12—A very bright idea was born in the agile brain of Louis B. Mayer, top man at MGM, when he decided there should be a sequel to the popular "Mrs. Miniver," with the Academy Award-winning Greer Garson and Walter Pidgeon in the leads. This, you remember, is the duo who gave us "Mrs. Miniver."

To get some English atmosphere and ideas, L. B., I hear tell, will send Kenneth McKenna to England. Kenneth may talk to Jan Struthers, the author, about writing a sequel, which will be a postwar story.

J. ARTHUR RANK was busy, busy, busy while in our fair city. One business deal he put over is an interchange talent deal between the Rank organizations and Universal-International. This includes stars, directors, and lesser players who will be traded across the pond.

Ann Todd

The first to come under this deal is Robert Siodmak, one of the top directors of mystery stories. Among Siodmak's best known pictures are "The Killers" and "Spiral Staircase."

Siodmak leaves immediately for England to direct "Precious Bane" with Robert Donat and Ann Todd for Twin Cities, a Rank company. You may remember that "Precious Bane" is the novel which Ingrid Bergman once optioned.

JOHN FORD, who made an academy award actor out of Victor McLaglen in "The Informer," is giving Vic another chance to hit the high spots in "War Party." Some directors and some actors are lucky for each other.

Next to his Capt. Flagg role in "What Price Glory" for Raoul Walsh, Vic has done better with Ford than with anyone else. It's a Capt. Flagg type of role that John has for him now. Who knows maybe lightning will strike twice in the same place.

"War Party" now lines up Shirley Temple and her husband, John Agar; John Wayne, Henry Fonda and Pedro Armendariz.

I'VE JUST RECEIVED a letter from London with some very interesting news. Trevor Howard, one of the stars of "Brief Encounter" and "Green for Danger," has replaced Laurence Olivier in the Old Vic company. That's the English theatrical organization something like our Theater Guild.

Last season Olivier was here when Old Vic did tremendous business in New York. It's a wonderful thing for Trevor Howard to get this spot and shows how well regarded he is in England.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: While I was lunching in the Warner commissary with Sam Wanamaker for an interview I am writing for Pictorial Review, Wendy Russell, flanked by Agent Stuart Barthelmess, came to our table.

"What are you doing here?" I asked her.

"Trying to get a job in the movies," she said.

"Then you admit it's untrue that you are marrying Walter Florell," I said.

"There'll be no wedding," she said. "and I'm not going to Paris in July. Walter has been very sweet about it."

I still say it's cheap publicity to use a marriage to put over a hat show.

I went on the set to see Humphrey Bogart in "The Treasure of the Sierra Madre" at Warners.

"You see what John Huston did to me," he said. "He's taken away all my S. A."

It was a dirty, bearded Bogey, playing in a Mexican scene. I wouldn't have known Walter Huston who was also bearded.

"None of you gentlemen look very pretty," I told them. "How about John's adopted son, the 14-year-old Mexican boy?" I asked Walter.

He said: "I never thought I would be a grandpop to a child that was born speaking Spanish."

Eddie Goulding, who turns out gems of songs every time he puts his pencil to paper, has written "To Rest in Glory," which Gladys Swarthout sings.

In telling me about it he said: "I wrote it after the death of Mrs. Niven. Tyrone Power and Gene Tierney went to her funeral and came back with their eyes all swollen, and I felt funerals should not be so sad, so I wrote 'To Rest in Glory,' which Gus Schirmer brought out, and which was first played in memory of Mrs. Niven. I didn't tell David what inspired it until a few days ago."

Eddie's "Mamselle" now is so popular that copies can't be kept in stock.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD collected at random: Pretty blonde Marjorie Donlevy, Brian's divorced wife, was night clubbing with Jim Stack, her first appearance since her divorce from the famous actor.

Ingrid Bergman is toying with the idea of allowing her daughter, Pia, to do a walk-on role in "Joan of Lorraine." It will be the first time the little girl has ever been screened if Ingrid makes up her mind.

Arthur McLaglen, brother of Victor and for many years his stand-in, and his wife, Mary, open in Santa Monica with a stock company June 25. "Wallflower" is their first attraction. Another summer stock company—they've sprung up like mushrooms.

Gracie Fields turned down $5000 a week on the London stage to remain on the Riviera with her husband, Monty Banks. I don't think Gracie is happy in England.

Gracie Fields

Mark Stevens, who underwent a couple of spinal operations and had his doctor worried is 100 per cent well now, which is good news.

Cora Sue Collins at Ciro's last night with Bob Stanton, brother of Dick Haymes. Wasn't Stanton about to marry someone else?

George Distel of the King's is very sick.

The Johnny Mack Browns clocked up 21 years of happy married life Tuesday. Who says it's all divorce in Hollywood?

That twosome in a woosome mood at the Chanteclair were Betty Hensel and Bob Taplinger.

When Otto Kruger leaves the stage cast of "Laura" in Chicago the end of the month, he'll join his family in Hollywood for a rest before starting a movie.

Republic released Una Merkel for that MGM movie because it meant a longer and more profitable engagement for her—which is kinda nice in this town supposed to be so hard-boiled.

Ethel Barrymore leaves for New York next week to go into "Portrait of Jenny"—the Selznick movie that seems to go on and on.

Elizabeth Patterson has said "yes" to doing C. Lawton Campbell's new Broadway show, "Foolish Sunset." She and Bette Davis appeared in Campbell's last Broadway show, "Solid South," in 1930.

When Henry Koster finishes "The Bishop's Wife" he'll take off for Europe. He hasn't been back to the native haunts where he began his directorial career with the old UFA Company in 15 years.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Boston After Dark

THE UNSINKABLE ROBERT MURPHY of Harvard, of the Boston bar and of national repute because of his futile effort to organize major league ball players into a union has bobbed up in Boston in his familiar capacity of union organizer once again . . . This time, Organizer Murphy is attempting to organize the mutuel employes at Wonderland Park . . . Mr. Murphy explains his current effort in a letter to employes of the Revere track as being prompted by "several groups of employes at Wonderland (who) have come to me with the thought of organizing the mutuel employes at the Revere track" . . . So Mr. Murphy submitted a program drawn up "subject to your approval."

"THE NEW ENGLAND EMPLOYES' GUILD is your Guild and you are to elect your own officers and determine your own policies," says the communication signed by "Robert Murphy, director" . . . "If you have worked at Suffolk Downs this year you know that the company controlled guild there, which has had no election of officers, was put in, not to help the employes, but only to defeat a legitimate union. (Ed. Note: We are quoting Mr. Murphy, of course) . . . The N. E. R. E. G.'s program includes, among other things: (1) $5 per day increase in wages for each employe. (2) Bonus at the end of the meeting. (3) Job security—a seniority plan so that you may retain your job from year to year without the necessity of political sponsorship."

MR. MURPHY'S CIRCULAR told of "a hearing for an election" which was scheduled for yesterday before the Massachusetts Labor Relations Commission . . . Mutuels employes at Wonderland were reported as moving cautiously because of a whisper, untraced to high authority, that the jobs of members of the union would be forfeit.

IN ONE RESPECT, the Murphy program may have hard going in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts . . . The law of the state stipulates that an employe must work at least 20 weeks a year for the same boss to be regarded as a qualified regular employe entitled to such protective prerogatives the laws provide . . . Wonderland Park's customary 100-nights season does not constitute the 20-week minimum employment for mutuels employes which would make them recognizable as "regular" employes of a Massachusetts business establishment.

THE NIGHT AFTER the Fourth of July—will be the night to celebrate for lovely blonde Sally Keith, the tassel-dancer whose skill and talent seems to be so "unique and extraordinary" that they may never be duplicated . . . Sally has had several imitators in the course of years, but—critics agree— never a successful one . . . At any rate, on the 5th of July, Miss Keith will terminate her season's engagement at the Crawford House cabaret.

IT WILL MARK the end of her seventh consecutive all-season engagement at the same stand, and if this isn't a record for all entertainers we have miscalculated Ken Murray's amazing success out th'ar in Hollywood where Ken's "Blackouts" are still running . . . For the Hollywood comedian is the only rival we can recollect as having approached Sally's long-lived popularity in one entertainment spot . . . The Murray "Blackouts" is a theatrical offering, for that matter, and is not kept running by the efforts of its producer-star alone . . . So Sally owns the record, in this column's reckoning, and a seven-year-run is noteworthy enough to warrant national attention . . . If some magazine writer gets the notion that Miss Keith is a worthy subject for a biography, we can point out that some very interesting "art" layouts could accompany the text.

NEW YORK, June 12—Teresa Wright is retiring from the screen to await the winter arrival of her second baby. She's the wife of Niven Busch, the writer . . . Hollywood's newest romance stars Jack Holt, the gun-toting hero, and Una Merkel, formerly of the films . . . Milt Reynolds, the fountain pen adventurer, will try to break the New York-California airplane speed record and then try another round-the-world record—this time via another route . . . The feminine noises whinnying through the Waldorf's halls these days mean only one thing: Gable arrives from Glamourtown tomorrow . . . Richard Greene will have a few scorching paragraphs to give the interviewers on the subject of Hollywood when he gets back to England. He twiddled his thumbs out there for more than a year before deciding to back.

Lou Walters will be Nat Harris' 50 per cent partner on the Vanity Fair deal in mid-September . . . Pat Coogan, of the Coogan's Bluff clan, and Cally Cutter, the wealthy Hawaiian-American, are sniffing orange blossoms.

By George Dixon

WASHINGTON, June 12—My private Texas Rangers inform me that Martin Dies, the old un-American prober, is getting set to run for something again. He is stumping his old district down in Texas like mad.

I have abiding faith in my Rangers because they are eagle-eyed birds who miss nothing of note. In fact, the only birds as eagle-eyed are eagles.

They report that Mr. Dies, after a long period of innocuous desuetude, suddenly removed his feet from his desk, clapped on his campaign hat, and sallied forth to address the electorate.

Since then he has been making speeches in every nook and cranny of Texas' second district, which has quite a few nooks and crannies because it takes in 11 counties—Angelina, Hardin, Jasper, Jefferson, Liberty, Newton, Orange, Sabine, San Augustine, Shelby and Tyler, with a combined population (1940 census) of 331,069.

My Rangers said they had been unable to learn what prompted the great investigator to take the stump, because he will not admit he is stumping. He kisses off inquiries by murmuring that he is "just making a few little talks."

My guess is that he is aiming his sights at the Senate, although he may consent to fill in the interval with a short fling in the House. No senatorial seat will be available until 1949 when the term of W. Lee O'Daniel, the paternal biscuit-passer, expires.

A YEAR AGO Martin Dies declared he would never run for the House of Representatives again, but that was a year ago. Then he was worried about his health and finances. Both are reported convalescing.

Dies was probably the best known name in Congress when he decided to quit in 1944. The special House committee to investigate un-American activities was usually referred to as the Dies Committee. His explanation for quitting was simple:

"I had been taking nothing but abuse from the Reds and the New Dealers for six straight years. I got sick and tired of being shot at by the damn fools who had to wait until Stalin, Molotov and Gromyko went to work on Jimmy Byrnes before they could see what was going on in the world."

IF MARTIN DIES tries for a seat in the House while waiting to get a shot at the Senate, he will some up against a tough opponent, J. M. Combs. "Judge" Combs, as he is known, having been a justice of the Texas Court of Civil Appeals, is quite a fighting anti-Commy himself.

Recently he engaged in a debate with Arthur Garfield Hays on the loyalty check of government employes. Hays spouted a lot of stuff about men's inalienable rights and so forth. Judge Combs then let him have it between the eyes with this:

"No man has the right to serve in the government. It is not a right; it is a privilege—as members of Congress are reminded every two years."

I would not care to be a voter in the Second District of Texas if Dies and Combs fight each other. It would be a difficult choice, as both are men of stature.

I HAPPENED to be on the plane with Judge Combs the other day going down to Biloxi, Miss., to shoot off my trap before the Mississippi Press Ass'n.

I warned the editors, if they ever come to Washington, to beware of our cocktail parties. Then I said:

"Some of you may say: 'Well, nobody forces you to go to these awful parties. Why do you go?' The answer in many cases is to be found in the bureaucratic red tape and confusion that exists in Washington. It may take you three weeks to contact a certain official through the ordinary daytime channels, when you can catch him right off the bat at a cocktail party and get your business done—between snatching at the messy and indigestible hors d'oeuvres.

"You don't need to worry about his not being there. If the liquor and food are on the cuff and he has an invitation, he'll be present."

I guess that was telling 'em, Dixon!

of the neighborhood by police and residents who had been aroused by the shot.

Detectives who searched the scene reported they found a pane of glass removed from a rear window of the New England Liquor Store, Inc., and bloodstains on the nearby wall where the struggle occurred. They also found a flashlight in addition to Dowd's flashlight which the policeman smashed in his blow at the burglar.

This flashlight, the window pane, and a wooden box which was used as a ladder provided investigators with valuable fingerprint clues to the identity of Dowd's assailant, they said. The flashlight, they reported, yielded an almost perfect thumb print. One of the first police acts when the suspect was brought to the station, was to fingerprint and photograph him. Results of the fingerprint comparisons were not disclosed.

A bachelor who lives in Hudson st., Dowd is well known in Somerville and along the route he has patrolled for years from Cedar to Davis sts. His beat extends to the Cambridge line.

He walked past the front door of the liquor store at Highland and Willow aves. as the burglar was cutting a glass pane from a rear window in the narrow alley, standing on a wooden box to reach the pane just above the window lock.

The patrolman opened his police call box near the intersection and at the side of the store, only 25 feet from where the burglar was at work.

Opening the box apparently frightened the burglar, who was heard moving around by Dowd. The officer left the box open and walked into the alley toward the broken window, only 15 feet off Willow ave.

As he neared the window, he spotted a figure lying prone on the brick pavement. The man, hatless and wearing an Army jacket, was stretched on his stomach, his face resting on the left arm and his right arm covering his head.

Thinking the man drunk, Down reached down and gripped his wrist to lift him to his feet. Instead, the man whirled, shouted, "Stick 'em up," and fired at the officer.

Dowd, holding his flashlight in his free hand, crashed it down on the man's head with such force the forward half was shattered. He grappled with the burglar, but was tackled and thrown to the ground.

It was then that the burglar never relinquishing a grip on his gun, heeded Dowd's plea for mercy and fled.

The wounded officer struggled to his feet and tottered out to the still-open call box, where he gasped out word of his condition to Sgt. James A. Fitzpatrick, on duty at the desk.

All four police cruisers on the street were rushed to the scene on radio orders, together with a police ambulance. John D. McCashin, who lives in the house across the alley from the liquor store, was awakened by the gun blast and ran to Dowd's aid.

Within a few minutes, James Dowd, a brother and prominent CYO basketball coach, and Mrs. Mary G. Callahan, a sister who is a registered nurse, were driven to the hospital. They waited in the lobby for news of the outcome of the operation.

Eight fellow officers stood by at the hospital to offer blood. They were Sgt. James A. Fitzpatrick and Patrolmen John J. Cronin, William F. Lynch, Frederick A. Landry, John J. Brosnahan, William J. Quinlan, James M. Gilmartin, and Francis L. Rogers.

The burglar was described as 5 feet 10 inches tall, of thin build, and wearing no hat. He was wearing an Army jacket, but no description of his other clothing was available.

Three Eye Beauty Aids

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

THERE'S AN "OFF SEASON" on many things . . . but not for beauty. Every season is a season when good looks can be improved by cultivation and attention . . . like a beloved garden in full bloom because it was planned and prepared for.

With hot weather on the way . . . there's always the temptation to store your beauty routine in moth balls along with your winter wardrobe. But, for the beauty-wise . . . the seasonal urge to relax won't degenerate into carelessness. Though you may discard heavy makeup and omit mascara except for evening . . . you will and you should cling to the fundamentals of good grooming for the eyes, in and out of season.

This means that you can pare down your eye-beauty aids to a basic trio which are simple and efficient. First, a good tweezer. There's one . . . designed for professionals . . . which you'll find particularly easy to use because it works on the familiar scissors principle. This enables even the least mechanical of feminine hands to grasp the handles firmly . . . squeeze them tightly . . . and thus exert the maximum pull on each individual hair. And they have blunt ends so that each hair can be grasped more firmly . . . preventing nipping of the skin by nervous or inexperienced performers.

GRAND FOR LASHES

A good lash cream is the second essential. And the one we have in mind . . . because it is quite colorless . . . can take the place of mascara for daytime wear during the hot weather. Applied to lashes and brows with the finger, or a small brush, it gives the hairs a sheen that makes them appear longer and silkier without altering their natural color. And used lavishly at night . . . the lash conditioner promotes luxuriance of both lashes and brows and helps prevent dryness.

And, finally for the last step in the eye-grooming routine . . . the lash curling essential . . . there is a handy little implement which is a virtual guarantee of turning those lashes up and out to an effective flutter frame that makes for the extra ounce of glamor.

We've had our gadget since before the war and we're mighty glad we had it . . . for it was a war casualty during those not-too-far back years. With the scarity of metal . . . this eyelash curler was not available. But now it is back . . . and beauties are glad. This efficient little implement . . . especially made for the purpose of quickly and glamorously turning back those lashes to curled proportions, has curved rubber bows into which the lashes are inserted.

A grip on the scissors handles . . . while counting to 25 . . . and the trick is done . . . easily and safely without heat or cosmetics. But sweeping the lashes upward . . . the eyes themselves appear larger, more romantic, since more of the iris is exposed and the fringed effect is undeniably alluring.

Never underestimate the power of the eyes . . . nor the woman who practices good eye-grooming. Other lovelies may come and go . . . even natural beauty fades. But the girl with the staying power in looks is the one who keeps up her beauty regime in and out of season . . . and especially the eyes.

For the names of three eye-beauty essentials, tweezers, lash cream, and lash curler, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, daily except Sunday, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

COMBINATION FRUIT AND COTTAGE CHEESE SALAD

Cottage cheese with fresh or canned pears, pineapple, or peaches makes a good salad. Chopped nuts are optional. Serve with crisp salad greens—lettuce or watercress.

SOMETHING provocative on the fashionable summer agenda is this flower-banked creation . . . by John Frederics . . . of natural rough straw trimmed with lush pink roses and heather. And equally as intriguing as the banked roses are the model's eyes . . . as bright, clear and pretty as the flowers.

Odd 'Good Fellow' Idea

DEAR Miss Fairfax: I am 18 years old, and met a fellow 25 at the place I worked. He is a good, sincere and clean fellow. He was married, but his wife passed away over a year ago, and since then, I am the only girl he has taken out, though in all the time we have gone out he has never told me he cared for me.

Recently he left to visit relatives in Florida, and before he left, he told me he loved me. In all the time we went out together, he never got fresh with me or even attempted to, but before he left, he asked me if I would have an affair with him. I told him that if that was what he was after, he should know better, because I am not that type of girl. Still, he told me he loved me, and wants to write to me.

Do you really think he does love me, or is he just carrying on a flirtation with me?

"Worried"

Dear "Worried":

If you want to keep on the safe side of heart break, you'll be very cautious about your relationship with this man. If he loves you so much, there's no reason why he shouldn't ask you to marry him, and the fact that he asks you to have an affair with him instead, makes him cut a very contemptible figure indeed. It seems to me you have rather an odd idea of what is "good, sincere and clean."

Write to him if you want to, but I think you'd be much better off if he stayed in Florida and let the whole thing drop.

Use Cottage Cheese

By MARTHA LEE
Household Editor

COTTAGE CHEESE is one of the plentiful spring foods—particularly during the month of June when milk production is at its peak. It is a high-protein, low-cost food which can appear often on lunch and dinner menus with good results for both appetite and budget.

Few homemakers appreciate the versatility of cottage cheese in the daily menu. To enumerate just a few of the tempting array of dishes that can be made with it would make almost anybody hungry. Perhaps the many types of salads in which cottage cheese is so popular has caused home cooks in many instances to limit its use to this form. However, there are many other delightful ways in which this delicacy may be served.

Not least among the favorites is this unusually good tasting "Raisin Cottage Pie" which requires but one crust. You'll want to add it to your collection of preferred desserts.

RAISIN COTTAGE PIE

1 cup seedless raisins
2 cups cottage cheese
½ cup sugar
1 cup sweet table cream
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. lemon extract
3 eggs
Nutmeg
Pastry for single 9-inch crust

Rinse raisins, drain, and slice very fine. Put cheese through a sieve or ricer to remove lumps. Combine with sugar, cream, salt, flavoring, and well beaten eggs, blending thoroughly. Add raisins and mix lightly. Pour into pastry-lined deep type nine-inch pie pan and sprinkle top with spice. Bake in a hot oven (450 deg. F.) for 10 minutes; lower temperature to moderate (350 deg. F.) and continue baking about 30 minutes or until custard is set. Do not let custard boil. Makes six to eight servings.

Cottage cheese may be turned into a delicious sauce to serve with salmon or tuna, to pour over boiled or baked potatoes, or over buttered toast.

COTTAGE CHEESE SAUCE

2 cups milk
2 tbsp. cornstarch
½ cup cottage cheese
8 young onions
1½ tsp. salt
⅛ tsp. each paprika and curry powder

Heat the milk in the top of a double boiler. Mix cornstarch in a small amount of cold milk and add to that in the double boiler, stirring constantly. Chop the onions fine, including some of the green tops, and add these, together with the cottage cheese, to the sauce. Add seasonings last.

Another recipe that soon becomes an all-out favorite is this Cottage Cheese Prune Whip. It is a filling and delicious dessert.

COTTAGE CHEESE PRUNE WHIP

1 cup pitted cooked prunes
1 tbsp. lemon juice
1 cup cottage cheese
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar
Few grains salt

Combine prunes, lemon juice, unbeaten egg whites, sugar, and salt, and beat with a rotary egg beater until mixture will stand in peaks. Fold in the cottage cheese, heap in dessert dishes. Do not let stand long before serving. Makes 6 servings.

COTTAGE CHEESE AND GREEN PEPPER SALAD

Remove pulp and seeds from a green pepper. Stuff pepper with cottage cheese, seasoned with salt and pepper. Chopped nuts and chopped red pepper or onion may be added to the cheese. Let stuffed pepper stand in a cool place for one hour, slice, and serve on lettuce leaves with salad dressing.

TOWN BLACK is cool and comfortable even in summertime but here is a sheer black crepe jacket costume by a New York designer which will take a girl from summer right into fall in the best traditional manner of fashion smartness. Its wrap-over skirt is shirred low on one side above a black satin bow to give it the newly acclaimed oomph. Wear it as the model does . . . with a black straw cartwheel . . . or, for a new change, with wide white straw and crisp white gloves.

Comfortable Travel Togs

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE prospect of cool mountain lakes and good country air often lures a vacationer into forgetting that before this Utopia is reached, there is a stretch of travel to be hurdled.

With thoughts for nothing but their destination, some vacationing girls neglect to plan an appropriate costume for the trip and arrive at the end of the line looking like a bad dream.

A girl can look cooly fashionable even on the kind of hot, crowded train or bus that makes the vacation run to remote summer resorts. The fussy, the cumbersome and the inappropriate should be avoided. The right kind of costume is something simple and dark with dress, hat, shoes and bag co-ordinated into a smooth, comfortable outfit.

PITY THE POOR

WASHINGTON, June 12 (AP)—The Library of Congress announced the acquisition of a booklet nearly 200 years old, arguing against the taxing of alcoholic beverages on the ground it would force poor people to drink water.

Printed in Massachusetts in 1754, and entitled "A Plea For the Poor and Distressed," the pamphlet declared the excise levy then proposed would bear most heavily upon "the poor exposed suffering people in the frontiers."

It explained that unless they could get untaxed rum and other spirits, they would be forced to drink water from "unwholesome ponds or marshes, often poisoned with spawns of toads, frogs, creeping things, hateful insects and vermine, soaking through heaths and bogs and other poisonous bogs, roots and bushes."

Millwood Hunt Show Saturday

TALK IN SOCIAL CIRCLES today centered around Saturday's first Millwood Hunt Horse Show to be held in 12 years. The locale will be Raceland, John R. Macomber's showplace estate in Framingham Center.

A diversified program has been arranged, including classes for lightweight, middleweight and heavyweight hunters, in addition to hunter hacks and green hunters.

Mrs. W. C. Cox

The show gets under way at 9:30 a. m., and children's riding competition will share the program with the hunter classes.

Judging the children's horsemanship classes will be Mrs. William C. Cox. This competition includes one match for beginners under 10 years old.

On the juvenile program also are classes for junior, jumping and for children's hunters, as well as the ever popular musical chairs.

THE TROPHY commitee is headed by Mrs. Alex M. Hammer. Her aides include Miss Edith P. Hall, Mrs. Thomas D. Cabot, Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske, Miss Jane Lawton and Mrs. Frederick S. Whiteside.

Chairman of the executive committee is Richard C. Metcalf, and the honorary chairman is Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr. Mrs. Winthrop Pyemont is secretary and Alex M. Hammer is treasurer.

Frederick J. Lovejoy is in charge of the grounds and parking, assisted by S. Prescott Fay, Gardiner H. Fiske, Mrs. Francis H. Gleason, Nathaniel Hamlen, Osborne Howes, Leo J. Murray, Dudley P. Ranney, William E. Schlusemeyer, Francis G. Shaw, Jr., and Dean Wheatley.

In charge of entries are Mrs. Gardiner H. Fiske, Paul Fox and Mrs. Henry S. Hall, Jr. Heading the refreshment committee is Mrs. James E. Stinson and assisting her will be Mrs. Frank S. Christian, Mrs. S. Prescott Fay, Mrs. Frederick H. Lovejoy, Mrs. Leo J. Murray and Mrs. George M. Naylor, Jr. Clarence Craven will serve as ringmaster and Charles H. Warner as fieldmaster.

GYPSY CREAM

Now you'll See

With the coming of warmer days ... now you'll see the FULL ADVANTAGES of this wonderful new development

There's nothing like it, at any price!

Extra Seasonal Uses...

BECAUSE OF its absolute freedom from "shine" and film and every slightest trace of stickiness ... M-Lab may be used as freely in the warmest weather as in the midst of winter. Indeed, it's in the coming season that you'll see the FULL advantages of this new, I-N-C-O-M-P-A-R-A-B-L-E Emollient. In a very real sense, it is Beauty's Own Insurance from the drying-coarse effects of sun and wind ... no less than from the roughening-red effects of gardening, household chores and too much soap-and-water. (See below.)

Not a Cream. Not a Lotion. It combines the best advantages of both ... in a rich Emollient COLLOID that really Beautifies the Skin.

Positively no slightest trace of oil, grease or stickiness. And NO RESIDUAL FILM!

DELIGHTFUL as the very Spring, itself, is the treat you have in store — in your first use of M-Lab. Superbly Smooth and S-o-o-t-h-i-n-g to the Skin ... Cool and Fresh as a Lotus Petal ... It seems almost too good to be true. There's never been anything like it — anywhere — at any price! Though it's made primarily for the Hands, yet M-Lab is so petal-light and perfectly dainty ... free from every trace of oil or grease or stickiness ... that you'll find it simply lovely for other uses in these warmer days. Splendid for the elbows and heels. A veritable boon for hot, tired feet. Petal-smooth and refreshing, after the bath, for loveliness all over.  Look for the handsome pink-gold label at leading Cosmetic Counters. Packed only in large, economy jars ... at the sensible price of but 83¢ (plus tax). It will really and truly delight you!

Three French Stars In Old South Film

Three great French stars are due on Old South Theater screen tomorrow when Julian Divivier's French-with-English-dialogue adaptation of the beloved father-son story, "Red Head," and "Beloved Vagabond" share the program. Harry Baur and Robert Lynen, both of whom were killed by the Nazis, are co-starred in "Red Head."

The "Beloved Vagabond," a Columbia production made in 1938, teams Maurice Chevalier with the English actress, Margaret Lockwood. A Hollywood product, it is of course entirely in English.

'Honeymoon' Picture Offers Shirley Temple Weak Vehicle

Any actress who was a star at the age of four is at a disadvantage when she grows up and has to compete in Hollywood with girls more glamorous and actresses who had to prove their talent in a grown-up field.

Shirley Temple was the idol of America for many years as a golden-haired child with indubitable acting talent, and making the transition into adult stardom is difficult enough for her even without the handicap of such a weak vehicle as "Honeymoon," now at the Keith-Memorial.

Perhaps it is because Shirley is still a child in the minds of many movie-goers despite the fact she is now a married lady, that there is hestitation about giving her any role but that of a 'teen-age girl.

In this film she portrays an adolescent girl who is far too immature for marriage, but who is busy getting all embroiled in diplomatic difficulties in Mexico City, when she is trying to outwit the law (being under age) to marry her soldier fiance, and falls in love with the young diplomat.

Guy Madison is her boy friend, and Franchot Tone the harassed official, and it is all pretty silly. Lina Romay is excellent as the Mexican fiancee of Franchot.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, King Features Synd., Inc.

WHILE ATTENTION is being focused on the European situation, Soviet Russia is making marked advances in the Far East. Chinese Communists, a direct arm of the Soviet international armed forces, retreated from their war capital at Yenan and entered upon a military career in Manchuria.

Manchuria is bounded on the north by Soviet Russia. On the west, it touches upon Mongolia much of which since 1921 has been under the indirect control of Soviet Russia through the Mongolian Socialist Soviet Republic. On the east, Manchuria is bounded by Korea, the northern half of which is held by Soviet Russia; the southern half by the United States.

At the Cairo conference, the United States and Great Britain agreed with China that Manchuria was to be returned to China after it was taken from Japan. The exact words were:

"It is their purpose that Japan shall be stripped of all the islands in the Pacific . . . and that all the territories that Japan has stolen from the Chinese, such as Manchuria . . . shall be restored to the Republic of China."

THE FAR EASTERN terms of the Yalta conference were kept secret but actually Messrs. Roosevelt and Churchill agreed that Soviet Russia was to become the successor to Japan's economic and political advantages prior to Sept. 19, 1931. If some State Department official challenges such wording, I shall be glad to show what those advantages were on that date and what Soviet Russia's advantages are today. They happen to coincide. The fact bespeaks a secret agreement.

Furthermore, I note in a private letter which I received from China this reference:

"It is to be hoped that, although the Yalta agreement mentioned the 'pre-eminent interests of the Soviet Union . . .'"

Now that phrase "pre-eminent interests" is something new. The Japanese held that they had special interests in Manchuria because of propinquity and the United States once recognized Japan's paramount interests in the Lansing-Ishii agreement which did not long hold.

In fact, the American policy in Manchuria since 1899 was generally based upon the John Hay "open door policy" which insisted that all countries had the same rights in Manchuria that any country enjoyed. Japan fought three wars over this question: The Sino-Japanese war in 1894; the Russo-Japanese war of 1904, and the recent war with China which lasted from 1931 to 1945.

IF ALL THIS BLOOD was shed to deny to Japan "pre-eminent interests," why were they granted to Soviet Russia? And who had the right to grant them?

As a matter of fact, the United States and Great Britain are obligated by the Nine Power Treaty signed in Washington in 1921 to deny "pre-eminent interests." Had Mr. Roosevelt or Mr. Churchill the legal right at Yalta to break a treaty and to vitiate the obligations of their countries?

Be that as it may, they did it. They handed to Stalin precisely what they took from Japan.

Gen. Marshall was sent to China to effect a peace between Chiang Kai-shek and the Communists. Had he succeeded, Soviet Russian would by now be as completely in the saddle in China as it is in Hungary. Mercifully he failed in his mission with the result that the Chinese Communists are fighting for Manchuria, but they are not in control in Nanking. China still has some chance. It has a chance only, however, as long as the civil war continues.

THE SOVIET imperialist movement in Asia parallels the Soviet imperial movement in Europe. Both utilize native forces to do the Russian business. Both prevent the liquidation of the war and keep vast areas in turmoil.

A Study of the Sox Pets Versus Braves Paupers

By AUSTEN LAKE

AS A GOING AWAY GIFT TO Boston the Braves lost a double-header to the Cubs while the Red Sox won one at Cleveland. Still there is the makings of a punchy sermon in the contrasting records of the two teams whose astonishing reversal of springtime form has New England tongues wagging.

It was only a few months ago that the Braves were fumbling through their winter muscle jerks at Fort Lauderdale, looking very moth-eaten in their pitching and semi-paralytic at bat. People were saying "Ho-hum, the same old sheep in wolf's clothing."

But the Red Sox were tilting their patrician nostrils and boasting another pennant on paper, generally hogging the spot-light and taking their pre-season bows—or, to be accurate, it was not so much THEM as did it, as WE on the journalistic side. Anyway they were called sweetheart. Their pictures filled the sport pages and the Sunday supplements ran intimate, hand-forged glimpses of the heroes, home-lives, with bright, folksy chat about their hunting hounds and motor cars.

But the only recognition the Braves received was sympathetic references to their splendid achievement in reaching as high as fourth place last year—as though that was quite a miracle for a band of nobodies going nowhere, except for the annual hayride. So, while the two clubs fried off their winter's lard in Florida, most of us news attaches ran up large telegraph tolls about the Sox and yawned patronizing paragraphs about the Braves, who were labelled a lot of guys named Joe.

Farm Life Among the Braves

THIS WAS SOMEWHAT NATURAL because the Red Sox were a collection of noted names gathered from everywhither at great expense and chaperoned by a genial, generous gent named Cronin, who made life agreeable in his press sessions and held out an honest, open hand to everyone, both great and small. The members of the press had access to a fine tourist hotel, local golf courses and acres of sunny waterfront. The atmosphere was chummy, the victuals good and the bottled ingredients ample.

But camp life among the Braves was a trifle dull, due to the plain but wholesome surroundings in scattered motels and tourist huts remote from town and ball parks. So the boys foraged for their food in cafeterias and snack bars where long lines of elderly sun worshippers, or "heliotropes" as they are sometimes called, stood in lines till their shins warped. Of course, the horde of winter colonists being what it was, this was the best the Braves could manage and they did it very cordially indeed.

The point I wish to make is that the Braves by their long heritage of failure, were regarded as Boston's baseball step-children who lived on the left-over scraps, rinds and crusts from the Red Sox kitchen. So this spring, even with the addition of a much-gilded rookie named Earl Torgeson, a seasoned third sacker named Bob Elliott, a sprinkle of pick-up pitching in Charley Barrett and John Beazley, and a few warmed over infielders like Sibbi Sisti and Frank McCormick, the Braves looked no more than a good country ball club, and what's the news about the Red Sox?

The Answer is Southworth

THAT'S THE WAY IT WAS last March. Yet here we are on June 12, a short-husband call from the middle of the season, and the Braves are snorting their hot breath on the necks of the league leading Giants, while the Sox are somewhat farther in arrears of the Tigers. Of course, it was a severe wrench to me in preparing this farewell eulogy that Warren Spahn, the cum laude pitcher, got himself bumped in Wednesday's first game. But Warren, who has physique and appearance of a church parson, is only mortal after all.

What Billy Southworth, who for my money is one of the two best managers in the game—Steve O'Neill of Detroit being the other—has accomplished and seemingly against the laws of baseball gravity is to squeeze so much out of such meager pitching. Because here is Johnny Beazley who won seven and lost five for the Cardinals last year. And there is Red Barrett who won three and dropped two for the same club. And already they have totaled 2-0 and 4-3, respectively, to meld very nicely with Spahn's 9-2 and Sain's 6-4.

Billy has always had a handy way with pitchers, advising, cajoling, bullying, pampering as their individualities require and studying the oddities of each man's makeup so that in addition to being the club papa he is also a practical psychiatrist.

At any rate I believe, and here I intend no meanness toward Joe Cronin who rates among the game's most sociable people, that the current Red Sox would be galloping away from the rest of the league again at this stage of the race if they were working under Billy, with whom it is "either or else."

Maybe a manager cannot make his disciples hit but he can make 'em hustle. Which is why the Braves have won so many ball games with a minimum of punch and a maximum of persistence.

Sox Home, See Happy Days; Harris OK, Doerr Hitting

By HERB FINNEGAN

It's been a long, long time since the Red Sox have played at home—May 20, to be exact. But beginning tomorrow night (White Sox) they'll be home, with the exception of four days, until the All-Star game. They should be in first place before then.

It looked for a time on their 17-game trip as if they'd come home nearer the cellar than the roof. They dropped four straight to the Yanks for a starter. Later, when they dropped the Memorial Day double-header in Washington, it looked as if they'd drop into the International League.

They had left home only half a game behind the league leading Tigers. They dropped as low as fifth. But they kept pecking away and because the other clubs played almost as badly as themselves and because the Sox swept the three-game series in Cleveland, they find themselves in third place, little the worse for their experience. Better off, in fact, because Mickey Harris proved in Cleveland he was ready to pitch again.

It was an eventful trip.

Tebbetts made his debut in New York. He's proved he'll help the pitching, and he's added some zing to the club.

Pellagrini was benched in Philadelphia. Pesky went back to short. Russell was given a shot at the third base job, failed to hit, and was replaced by spark plug Gutteridge, who batted .244 for the trip.

DiMaggio pulled a muscle in his left shoulder swinging at one of Rigney's pitches, has been idle since and may be idle some more.

But Moses has stood up well, batting at a .296 clip on the trip, only Mele of the regulars bettering his performance.

York batting fourth at the start of the trip was dropped to seventh and Mele replaced him as clean-up.

It was a good move because York batted only .151 on the road, Mele .327.

But the most notable contribution to the Sox cause was made by Harris. It was the first start of the season for the 17-game winner of '46. The Sox needed a southpaw starter badly.

Despite his excessive weight from his long layoff because of a sore arm, Harris was his '46 self for seven innings, when he left the game with the score 1-0, in his favor.

He gave only four hits. He fanned five. More, he came through in the tight spots. In the first with two on, he got Robinson on an infield roller. He repeated in the third. In the sixth he left Seerey stranded as he retired Robinson and Gordon. But his best piece of pitching came in the seventh with Keltner on second and one out. Bockman batted for Embree. Harris fanned him. Lopez batted for Metkovich and watched a third strike sail past.

"We're in now," cried the Sox in glee as they winged their way home in their four motor plane. "Harris is pitching, Doerr is hitting, and we're going home."

The sweep of the three-game Cleveland series buoyed them no end. It gave them a 7-10 record for the trip, a 5-3 record in the West. The manner in which they won the final game also was a morale booster. Feller relieved Embree after the latter had been lifted for a pinch hitter. He got past the eighth. In the ninth, however, he walked Moses. Williams forced the old 'un. Mele flied out but Doerr singled and York beat out an infield hit.

Up steped Partee, who had gone hitless in 12 trips since leaving Boston, and the Kid came through with a two-run single to center.

That made it 3-0, and when you hit Feller in such impressive fashion, you have reason to picture glorious days ahead, when you find a new pitcher and when Doerr is hitting.

HOW BIG BOYS DID

By the Associated Press

JACKIE ROBINSON, Dodgers—Enjoyed his biggest day in the majors with two singles, a triple and a double and sacrificed in other time at bat, but the Dodgers bowed to the Reds, 5-4.

JOHNNY MIZE, Giants—Banged his 16th home-run of the season with two men on in the first inning, but failed to hit safely in his three other turns at bat as the Giants lost to Pittsburgh, 8-7.

JOE DIMAGGIO, Yankees—Hit a meaningless single in four times at bat against Joe Haynes as the White Sox nipped the Yankees, 3-2, in 11 innings.

TED WILLIAMS, Red Sox—Singled in four times at bat off Red Embree and Bobby Feller in the Red Sox 3-0 triumph over Cleveland.

STAN MUSIAL, Cardinals—Singled in four times at bat and scored a run as St. Louis lost to Philadelphia, 5-4.

LUCKY CHANGE

GULLANE, Scotland, June 12 (AP)—Babe Didrikson Zaharias, who brought the British amateur women's golf title to the U. S. for the first time, stampeded through the opening rounds wearing faded blue corduroy slacks.

Today, in the 36-hole final with Jacqueline Gordon, she started out in a grey culottes and a yellow sweater over a white blouse—and was held even over the first 18 holes.

She returned for the second 18 in her blue corduroys, won the first hole, and went on to victory.

Babe Wins British Women's Title 5 and 4

GULLANE, Scotland, June 12 (INS)—Mildred Didrikson Zaharias, the slugging Babe of women's golf, gave America a clean sweep of Great Britain's links trophies today, by taking the women's championship with a 5 and 4 victory over Jacqueline Gordon, unheralded Londoner. In her theatrical performance today, the hard-hitting, carefree lady from Denver became the first American ever to win this trophy, which will go across the seas to join four others spirited away by her fellow-countrymen.

The new queen struggled during the forenoon of today's 36-hole finals to be all even after 18 holes against an opponent who temporarily was unexpectedly tough, and completely unawed by the Babe's spectoculad play in previous rounds.

Then the Babe came on with a rush in the stretch to win her 16th straight victory, including the United States and British titles.

Babe shot a 36, one under women's par, to the afternoon turn, while Miss Gordon floundered under pressure — especially after that eagle was fired at her—and took a 42.

By then the English girl, a native Scot now residing in London, was finished and the Babe formally closed it out on the 14th hole, or 32nd hole of the match.

As Mrs. Zaharias went out to make a clean sweep of all British golfing titles for America, her British opponent desponded by bearing down in the pinches, and for the first time in the tournament the favored invader trailed at the end of nine holes.

Miss Gordon's one up edge at that point was the result of her own, cool, steady play combined with a slump in Babe's game. The latter had to fight every step of the way.

The awesome spectacle of a Britisher finally getting in front of the lanky lady from America left the Scottish golfing fans in a chattering dither as hopes for an upset soared.

The Babe from the United States was a top-heavy favorite over the virtually unknown 27-year-old British golfer, who spent five war years in the Air Forces' Women's Auxiliary.

Play started in dull, threatening weather.

Babe opened what was expected to be a rout of Miss Gordon by lashing out a drive on the first tee that was a full 80 yards to the good over her opponent. Miss Gordon placed her second in a bunker, but cooly made a spectacular recovery and holed a three-foot putt for a four and a half on the hole.

They played the second hole even with fives.

The American took a one-up lead on the third with a birdie four, accomplished by smacking an iron shot dead to the pin, and they halved the short fourth in threes.

They halved the fifth and Miss Gordon squared the match at the sixth by running down a long, tricky putt for a birdie three. The British girl took the lead on the eighth where Mrs. Zaharias missed her drive and second.

They halved the ninth and for the first time in the tournament the Babe trailed at the end of nine holes.

Miss Gordon took a 36, or one under women's par, to the turn and Mrs. Zaharias a 37. The cards:

Mrs. Zaharias out:
4 5 4 3 5 4 4 5 3—37

Miss Gordon out:
4 5 5 3 5 3 4 4 3—36

Babe hooked into the rough at the 10th but scraped out a five and a half on the hole to remain one down.

She duffed her mashie second on the 11th and lost to trail two down. Babe pulled her drive into a bunker at the 12th, but eked out a half on that hole on the 15th.

At the 14th, she showed a flash of her old form and won by firing two great shots and holing out in two more for a birdie four.

Babe squared the match on the 550-yard 15th where she banged two beautiful wood shots to within 10 yards of the green and played a par five while Miss Gordon floundered to a six.

They halved the next three holes in a row to remain all even at the end of the morning 18. Each shot a 75, one under women's par. The cards:

Mrs. Zaharias. In.
5 5 5 3 4 5 3 4 4—38

Miss Gordon. In:
5 4 5 3 3 6 3 4 4—39

Babe won the first two p. m. holes in a row to lead by two up.

She bunkered her drive but recovered and holed a nine-foot putt for a par to win the hole and go one up.

She whistled out one of her longest drives on the 410-yard 20th, went 20 feet past the pin with her second and holed out for an eagle thre and another win to go two up.

MUSIAL TAGS HARD

PHILADELPHIA, June 12 (AP)—Del Ennis, star sophomore outfielder for the Phillies, ran his consecutive hitting streak to 14 games yesterday—but it cost him a knee injury.

Dell rapped a single off Murry Dickson of the Cardinals, but a moment later was caught napping off first. Dickson flipped to Stan Musial, who tagged Del on the knee so hard that Ennis was forced to leave the game.

He was expected to be in action against the Chicago Cubs tomorrow.

Roslindale Royals Show Flash of '46 Form in Park Loop

Showing 1946 form, when they dominated the Park League's West Division for most of the campaign, the Roslindale Royals have come up out of the cellar to go into fifth place, after nipping the Crosbys last night at Fens Stadium. Tom Cunningham will send Johnny O'Brien, Salem High and Suffolk Law School chucker to the Healy Field rubber tonight, when the McCarthy Club of South Boston visits the suburb superb.

Parkway fandom will have another attraction at Fallon where the loop-leading West Roxbury club plays host to the Hal Crosbys. Crosby will go after the leaders by naming young Lefty McAuliffe, stellar twirler for St. Sebastion's Prep this year, with which club he struck out 33 batters in two tilts. Joe Callahan, veteran Park League pitcher is due for the home rubber role.

Women's Eastern Open Race

With six threatening rivals no more than four strokes behind her, Maureen Orcutt of Haworth, N. J., faced the stiffest sort of pressure in her quest for her fifth Women's Eastern golf championship triumph since 1929 today at the Brae Burn Country Club.

That nationally-known campaigner put a 78 atop of her opening 79 to enter the last round of this 54-hole medal sectional competition yesterday.

Two newcomers, Mae Murray, 21-year-old daughter of a Rutland, Vt., professional, and Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Connecticut's new 19-year-old state titlist, were two and three strokes behind the major tournament-tested leader.

Braves Open Road Trip in Pittsburgh

The Braves will head for Pittsburgh this evening on the 6:30 o'clock train, having wound up their first long home stay of the season yesterday with a record of 11 victories and 9 defeats. They played 32 games in 27 days during the home stand and drew 468,932 paid customers through the Tepee gates. The half-million mark would have been passed had the weather been more favorable for their night and Sunday games. Practically every night game was played under frigid or threatening conditions. They also lost out on two Sunday crowds.

Despite the bad weather, they are almost sure of passing their record of last year when they drew the greatest gate in the history of the National League in Boston. They expect to clear the million mark with plenty to spare this year.

During this trip they will play 13 games, 4 at Pittsburgh, 2 at Cincinnati, 3 at Chicago, 2 at St. Louis, and 2 at Brooklyn before returning to the Wigwam, June 27, for a series with the Brooklyn Dodgers. They will also squeeze in two exhibition games, one at Bluefield, Ky., next Monday, where they will engage their farm club, and the other at Fort Wayne, Ind., June 25th, a twilight game.

Their finale here was most disappointing, especially to 26,992 fans who were drawn to the Tepee by the prospect of seeing Billy Southworth's warriors vault into first place in the National League's torrid race. Instead, the Tribe was clawed twice by the Cubs, 4-0 and 5-2, and dropped into fourth place as the Cubs took over third by two percentage points.

Even so, the Tribe is only a game and a half out of first place.

Doyle Lade was just too much for the Braves, who haven't been hitting much of late. In the opener, he allowed only seven hits and was mean in the pinches.

For instance, in the third, a walk and a single put Sibby Sisti on second and Connie Ryan on first with none out. An overthrow of second by the Cub catcher allowed each of the Warriors to advance one station.

Lade himself threw out the next two batters and raced to first to take the first baseman's throw for the final out of the inning.

With three on in the seventh and two out, Lade, who has a good quick one and pitches with an odd motion, got pinch-hitting Frank McCormick on a weak pop.

The loss was suffered by Lefty Warren Spahn, his second of the season against nine victories.

The Braves didn't score until the eighth inning of the second game which Chicago starter Bob Chipman had to leave the premises with a blistered finger.

The Braves announced the signing of Dick Manville, 6 ft. 3 in. fast-balling righthander, who will be graduated from Yale next Tuesday. Manville, ineligible at Yale this season, is a Newton resident. He's worked out with Braves, Yanks and Tigers.

Ferriss Had Big Sox Bat With .500

Williams, at bat, had his worst trip in history. He made only eight hits in 43 AB's for a puny .186 average . . . Ted doesn't think anybody in the league will hit .350 this year . . . Only York's .151 (11-68) and Tebbetts' .171 (7-41) were lower . . . Wiliams hit home runs in St. Louis and Philadelphia . . . Doerr made a home run and four singles in his last three games and kited his trip average to .287 . . . Pesky made 17 hits in 72 AB's for a .236 average . . . Russell had five hits in 29 AB's for .172 while he was playing third . . . Di Maggio had 6 in 37 for .162 on the trip before he was injured . . . When you glance at those averages you wonder how the Sox ever managed to win a game.

Best hitter on the trip and the man who actually looked best at bat was pitcher Dave Ferriss. He made seven hits in 14 for .500, and two of his hits were triples. In the final Cleveland game, Edwards robbed him of a third triple when he gloved his drive as it was about to hit the fence in left center . . . Culberson pinch-hit five times on the road, failed to hit . . . Pellagrini, who hadn't played since the Sox were in New York, was put up as a pinch-hitter when Feller relieved Embree.

Sox were 0-4 in New York, 2-1 in Philadelphia, 0-2 in Washington, 1-1 in Chicago, 1-1 in St. Louis, 0-1 in Detroit and 3-0 in Cleveland . . . Imagine winning a ball game via the shutout route and Cleveland leaving 11 men on bases . . . Ferriss walked two in the ninth and Johnson took over. He got Fleming on an infield pop but Mitchell beat out a hit to short (another argument with Umpire Hurley) and the bases were loaded. But Iceberg Johnson forced Feck to fly to Moses and the game was in the Sox locker.

Old Cy Young looked a pretty young 80 on his "Day" in Cleveland and the presence of old-timers Elmer Flick, Bill Bradley, Tuck Turner, George Uhle and Jack Graney must have made him feel quite pert. He certainly was in good voice when he thanked the Cleveland club for the pair of matched traveling bags. Previously, the good folks of Paoli, O., had given him a new car.

In the fourth inning, one out and nobody on base, the entire Cleveland club shifted to the right side of the field for Williams. He tried to hit to left but fouled the ball. Then he chased Metkovich to the 365-foot sign in right center where "Cat" calmly made a glove-hand catch of his drive as it was about to sail over the fence . . . Boudreau robbed both Mele and Partee of hits with glittering stops . . . He's the best, undisputedly.

Veeck engaged two bands for Young Day. The ball players love their music. Makes the game twice as lively . . . Dom DiMaggio, idle nine days, is still taking diathermy treatments for his left shoulder . . . Dave Ferriss is due to work against the White Sox tomorrow night . . .

Locke Favored as Open Starts

ST. LOUIS, June 12 (AP)—They teed off today in golfdom's most grandiose show, the 47th U. S. Open with South African Bobby Locke slightly favored to mow down 163 tense rivals on the short but deceptive St. Louis Country Club course.

Mustachioed, 150-pound Lloyd Mangrum was defending the title but the fellow to beat obviously was the red-hot importation from Johannesburg, South Africa, Arthur D'Arcy (Bobby) Locke.

Cloudy weather with occasional thunder showers was predicted.

Locke, 29, winner of $8437 and four titles in seven U. S. meets within two months, was a straight-from-the-feedbag favorite, although Mangrum, leading PGA money winner; Jimmy Demaret and Ben Hogan also get respectable nods from the bet makers.

If Locke has what it takes in this nerve-wracking, reputation-scorning showdown, he will capture the glory, plus a lot more cash ($2000) than that which went to another Britisher, English-born Horace Rawlings, who as a 19-year-old defeated 10 rivals for the first open crown and about $100 in 1895.

The quest for a slice of a $10,000 purse (for professionals) and the tradition-steeped championship calls for 18 holes today and tomorrow, when the field will be trimmed to 60, and a 36-hole windup Saturday.

The field included 10 former champions, but on the sidelines as a spectator and analyst for the Associated Press was Byron Nelson, 1939 winner, who lost last year's open when his caddie accidentally kicked his ball.

Judge Dooley Awarded High Degree

NARRAGANSETT PARK, June 12—Judge James E. Dooley, able president of the Narragansett Racing Ass'n and president of the Thoroughbred Racing Ass'n, was honored today by Providence College, Providence . . . Dooley was awarded the degree of Doctor of Business Administration, honoris causa, by Most Rev. Francis B. Keough, Bishop of Providence . . . The Judge, who has been actively engaged the past 30 years in the promotion of professional hockey, baseball, football and cycle racing and pioneered the bill that legalized horse racing in Rhode Island, has brought true distinction to Little Rhody, and his host of friends are deeply gratified by the high honor bestowed upon him.

Owner and trainer Jack McKnight is toying with the idea of starting Agrarian-U in the Governor's Handicap Saturday . . . Another excuse advanced for poor starts in six furlong races at 'Gansett is that the ground has been breaking out from under many horses at the start . . . District officers of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Ass'n are gathering in the New England area for the general meeting of their organization scheduled for Saturday in Boston.

Fewer than 130 jockeys, including 25 apprentices, are now registered at Narragansett Park . . . 'Gansett has more than its share of the cheaper thoroughbreds as may be recognized from the fact that Racing Secretary Ty Shea had to exclude 90 horses out of a $1500 claimer at six furlongs only a few days back . . . Dolomite's recent poor showing at favoritism may be attributed to the fact that he came out of his race with a high fever.

Due to difficulties arising out of the Delaware-New Jersey racing wave, many of the better stables originally stated for Monmouth Park will pass up the sport in that sector and ship to Suffolk Downs . . . Included in this list are the extensive strings of Mrs. M. E. (Liz) Whitney, Mrs. E. Augustus, Mrs. R. H. Heighe and F. A. Bonsall, Jr. . . . Yes Or No, a favorite, who finished third in his most recent start, was badly cut down leaving the starting gate in that race, according to Trainer Lyle Whiting.

Dinner Party, according to stable connections, was bothered by osselet trouble in his recent dismal performance . . . With the exception of the eighth race June 10, which was two full seconds too fast, official running times at 'Gansett were accurate for the first two days of this week.

Danvers Club Has Own Small Bore Rifle Range

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH

Things are going "great guns" at the lively Danvers Fish and Game Club, where these sportsmen now have their own small bore rifle range, which is open every Monday and Friday evening during the summer months. In the first match of the season, the Danvers gunners topped a team from Topsfield by 74 points, with a score of 858-784, in two-position match. Dick Briggs was high gun, prone, shooting a 99, while Les Clark captured off-hand honors with an 84.

A crow shoot has been scheduled by this club for June 28th—a fine way to aid in ridding the area of these feathered pests. The fee will be 50 cents, and each crow bagged will count 1 point; woodchucks, 2 points, and 5 points for each fox. The pheasant population will a' be preserved in this manner.

A meeting of the Danvers Fish and Game Club will take place this evening, at the Danvers Masonic Temple, beginning at 8:15. Special entertainment is on the program, plus the popular Gift Table. President Harley Forsythe will carry on the usual business matters.

A private trout pool is maintained by the group, and 900 fish were planted this spring, affording fine sport for the anglers. Don Mead, chairman of the Trout Pool committee, says that the trout provide plenty of action on a 3x-7½-foot leader. He also asks members to cut down their take to two fish apiece, releasing the others, with dry fly fishing in view for September and October. Good idea!

ANGLING ANGLES: Recent striped bass fishing has been fast in the Orleans section, particularly Pleasant Bay and the Nauset Inlet, according to "Sarge" Sargent, operator of the Goose Hummock shop, Orleans . . . Dr. Sidney McPherson, a local expert, caught stripers consistently in the surf last week, casting from Nauset Beach, using bent sand eels with pork rind for bait.

Alma Robinson and Arthur Gould, of Chatham, hooked 15 fish, ranging from 10 to 12 pounds each, off Strong Island.

Harry Edwards Weds Heiress in Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, June 12 (AP)—A honeymoon in Cannes, France, was planned today by heiress Jacqueline Freeman Wertheimer and aHrry Edwards, following their marriage at a simple ceremony performed by Superior Judge Stanley Mosk.

In applying for a marriage license before the wedding, which took place in the home of Mrs. Rena Borzage, former wife of film producer Frank Borzage, Mrs. Wertheimer gave her age as 24 and Edwards' as 49.

Shrewsbury Coach Hunts Baseball All-Star Talent

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Frankie Bergstrom, the ambitious Shrewsbury High baseball and football coach, is currently spending most of his time hustling around the smaller communities outside of the vast industrial walls of Worcester on a fortune hunt.

Frankie is hunting most valuable of gems—good amateur ball players.

Frankie, who is a member of the executive selection board of the Boston Record-American-Sunday Advertiser sandlot baseball committee, wants all these smaller towns to be represented at the Hearst sandlot baseball try-outs which will be held at Worcester on Wednesday, June 18th—that's next Wednesday.

The large board of experts who will preside over the Worcester try-outs on Wednesday will select the two best ballplayers from the locality. These boys will then be eligible to compete in the All-New England final at Fenway Park on Thursday, July 29th.

And everything is absolutely FREE.

Lynn Takes Bigger Lead

By the Associated Press

Lynn's Red Sox today had widened their lead in the New England League to two and a half games over second place Nashua.

It took the Sox 11 innings last night to down the stubborn Dodgers, 7-5, at Nashua where the decisive blow was second baseman Arnie Banta's 400-foot home run over the left field fence.

His 11th inning four-bagger was followed by another run which proved unnecessary. The Sox had come from behind to tie the game at 5-5 in the ninth.

The third place Lawrence Millionaires downed the Pawtucket Slaters, 5-4, thanks to pitcher Eddie Machay's 9th inning homer. Machay, making his second start, went all the way

The Providence Chiefs suffered their eighth straight defeat when they were edged, 6-4, by the Manchester Giants whose George Bamberger pitched a four-hitter.

Nashua moves to Lynn for a doubleheader tonight. Listed for single games are Manchester at Providence, Portland at Fall River and Pawtucket at Lawrence.

COURT UPHOLDS TURF CONVICTION

ANNAPOLIS, Md., June 12 (AP)—The State Court of Appeals has affirmed the conviction of two Maryland horsemen on charges of running a "ringer" in two horse races at the Pimlico track in November, 1945.

The appeal was sought by James S. O'Donnell, sentenced to two years in the state penitentiary for conspiracy, and Robert B. Sanner, given 18 months in the house of correction for conspiracy and obtaining money under false pretenses.

Pep Returns to Action With Flores Tuesday

HARTFORD, Ct., June 12 (AP)—Willie Pep, the world's featherweight champion, will return to action here Tuesday night for the first time since Jan 5 when he suffered a fractured leg and back injury in an airplane crash at Millville, N. J.

He will box Victor Flores in a 10-round nontitle bout, opening the Hartford Auditorium's outdoor arena.

20th Century Club Lining Up Conn Go

NEW YORK, (INS)—Sol Strauss, promoter for the 20th century sporting club in the absence of the ailing Mike Jacobs, announced today that he is arranging a bout for heavyweight Billy Conn and an "as yet unselected opponent."

The fight will be held in Madison Square Garden in August.

Conn, who has been knocked out twice by champion Joe Louis, recently announced comeback plans.

Strauss said that Billy probably will have a few tune-up fights outside of New York before the August bout.

The promoter added that Billy's opponent will be someone like "Tami Mauriello or Gus Lesnevich."

Danno Duels Szabo In Arena Feature

A pair of former heavyweight champions, Danno O'Mahony, an ex-GI, and Sandor Szabo, the duration titlist, will meet tonight in the feature wrestling match at the Arena.

The winner will take over the spot as the No. 1 contender for the title, with a shot at Frank Sexton promised in the near future. Both have held Sexton to deadlocks within the past two months.

Rest of card:

Bull Curry, Ct., vs. Johnnie Moochy, U. S. Marines.

Tiger Tasker, Canada, vs. Black Panther, Detroit.

Ted Germaine, South Boston, vs. Billy Knox, Toronto.

BOXING RESULTS

NEW YORK—Gino Buonvino, 194½, Barl, Italy, kayoed George Benzik, 186½, Denver (3).

E. PROVIDENCE — Johnny Casario, 137½, Boston, outpointed Bobby Zollo, 141½, Providence (12); Jimmy McMellan, 138½, Toledo, outpointed Frankie Carson, 135½, Newark (8).

DAYTON, O.—Larry Cartwright, 158, outpointed Eddie Miller, 158, Dayton (10). Decision ordered by commission after a draw ruling. Final verdict is left to Abe Green, NBA president.

Babe Takes British Golf Title, 5-4

STORY ON PAGE 37

Driver

Grace Lenczyk drives from the first tee to star in the Womens' Tournament at Brae Burn.

Family on Display

Special Officers Charles Beekman and Carmine Caruso got a big surprise when they opened the exhibit section of the International Textile Exposition at Grand Central Palace. In a tent were Harry Marrison, his wife and daughter, Judy, 2½. Marrison, an ex-paratrooper, explained they had no place else to live.
